HOLDS BABY AND KILLS ASSAILANT OF HER DAUGHTER

Mother Metes Out Vengeance to Accomplice in Plot to Ruin a Family.

LIVING AT HER HOME

Victim Is Shot Thrice by Woman Who Lies in Wait to Watch Developments.

CASH AIM OF OUTRAGE

Little Girls, 12 and 6 Years Old, Entangled by a Deep-Laid Conspiracy.

NEW YORK, May 30.—With a baby clutched to her breast, Mrs. Teresa Felepia of Brooklyn today meted out summary vengeance upon John Maro, whom she declares she had surprised in the act of attempting to mistreat her 6-year-old daughter. Three bullets from the woman's revolver killed Maro instantly.

When arrested Mrs. Felepia declared Maro, while living on the bounty of herself and her family, had conspired with two other men to destroy the good name of their two daughters and to throw the shame of the children to extort money from the parents. The other men named by her are Dominico Francesco, aged 65, and his son, Gaetano Francesco, aged 21.

Father and son now are under $5000 bail each, the son as principal and the father as an accomplice, on a charge preferred by Mrs. Felepia's 12-year-old daughter, Giovanini.

Mother Lies in Wait.

It is alleged Dominico induced his son to mistreat Giovanini in the belief that her father, who is well-to-do, would make a money settlement upon Gaetano upon his agreement to marry the girl. Mrs. Felepia declares she had been told Maro was a party to this alleged conspiracy and she had been watching him closely.

Yesterday, she said, her other daughter, Amelia, a child of 6, said Maro had sought to take liberties with her. He denied it, but the mother decided to wait and watch.

Conceals Weapon in Dress.

Today she said Maro induced the child to accompany him to a vacant lot. Mrs. Felipia, with her baby in her arms and a revolver concealed in the folds of her dress, stole to a point which gave her a view of the lot. She declared that what she saw justified the act which followed when she sent three bullets into Maro's head.

The Brooklyn police believe the conspiracy against the Felipia family is an outgrowth of systematic blackmailing of well-to-do Italians by the Black Hand.

YOUNG HARGIS TRIES TO END HIS LIFE BY POISON

Doctors Save Youth Who Slew Father in "Bloody Breathitt."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 30.—Beech Hargis, the youthful slayer of his father, Judge James Hargis, attempted to commit suicide in the Breathitt County Jail at Jackson, Ky., by taking morphine. The jailer discovered young Hargis shortly after he had taken the poison and physicians worked with him and after several hours he was pronounced out of danger. At times, however, it seemed their efforts would be futile.

The youth dreads the trial, which is set for Monday, and rather would die than appear in court and attempt the defense his attorneys are planning for him.

Hargis' condition is pitiable. Excesses and drink had impaired him and the opportunity his long confinement in Jail has afforded him to brood over his crime is believed to have affected his mentality.

Hargis' mother stands by her son and will spend all her fortune, if necessary, on his defense. But whether he goes free in the courts or not, Hargis already is paying the penalty.

Allen Greech, a fued murderer in the Breathitt County Jail, attempted to commit suicide at the same time by drinking whisky containing strychnine and became a raving maniac. Armed with a razor he attacked the other prisoners, but was overpowered.

Memorial day with Miss Sunshine placing wreaths on the graves of the Nation's heroes is the change this year from the usual custom.

Mr. Bowie says the tradition that it must always rain on Decoration day is to be broken, and that the sun will shine Saturday and Sunday.

He admits that a desire to help out the treasury of Mr. Hedges is responsible for his determination to give the sun a chance Sunday. Mr. Bowie admits he is thoroughly ashamed of himself for his treatment of the Browns the first part of the season, and he is now going to do all he can to make amends.

After winning two games in Cleveland Saturday, Mr. Bowie thinks the Browns, with the assistance of Miss Sunshine, can rake in about all the spare change in St. Louis Sunday.

The forecast: Fair Saturday and Sunday; westerly winds.

AUTO THIEF, CAUGHT NEAR GARAGE, CONFESSES HE ROBBED DE COURCEY HOME

Von Versen Avenue Crime Had Mystified Newstead Avenue Police a Week.

August J. Schmidt, 797 Bayard avenue, and Eugene Shelton, 5745 Vernon avenue, accomplished something that the entire staff of the Newstead Avenue Police District has for over a week been attempting, when, after a chase, they caught Charles Stemle, 30, who is wanted for having committed a burglary at the home of Mrs. Kate De Courcey, 5899 Von Versen avenue, May 20.

A tailor-made suit belonging to Mrs. De Courcey's son was found in Stemle's room at 313 Clark avenue. Stemle was released from the Joliet Penitentiary three weeks ago after serving 11 years for burglary, committed in Chicago.

Schmidt and Shelton were searching for a thief who has been pilfering in automobile shops and garages. In front of the auto repair shop of Charles Rohde, 4335 Olive street, they saw Stemle talking to Rohde's son.

Stemle had four auto lamps in his hand and when questioned by Schmidt and Shelton dropped the lamps and ran. Schmidt and Shelton pursued, caught him and turned him over to the police. The lamps were identified as having been stolen from the Star automobile repair shop, 4390 Olive street.

Stemle confessed the De Courcey burglary and said he had sold silverware and jewels, belonging to the family, to Charles Seekamp, 812 Pine street. Seekamp identified Stemle.

LOSES $200 DIAMOND STUD IN CLASH AT CAMPBELL'S

George Keiser Tells Police of Altercation With Two Men at Grove.

George Keiser, 4330 Virginia avenue, has reported to the police that he was assaulted at Campbell's Grove on the Olive Street road while there in company with a young woman Friday afternoon. His companion gave her name as "Hulda Ryan."

Keiser says as he was leaving the grove two men, one of whom, he was told, was a deputy sheriff, stepped forward and insisted that he had not paid for his meal. When they could not get money from him, he says, one of the men took a $200 diamond stud from his shirt. They then beat and kicked him, he says.

SILENT JIM SPEAKS; SUSPENDED

Reticent Patrolman Charged With Intoxication, by Sergeant.

Patrolman James Joyce, called "Silent Jim," because he is uncommunicative, spoke five words Friday evening and was suspended on a charge of intoxication.

Joyce, who has been doing clerical duty at the O'Fallon Street Station, greeted Sergeant Hickey when the latter entered the station. Joyce said: "How are they coming, Sergeant?" Hickey almost fell over from surprise. Recovering from the shock of hearing Joyce speak, he went over to the desk and inspected the patrolman. Then Joyce was suspended and ordered to make a report. This is the report he wrote: "Feb. 29. I did not take a drink today." Joyce has been in the department for 22 years.

PRINTING TRUST HOLD-UP IS HELD UP BY COUNCIL

Members Favor Searching Investigation of German Newspaper Bids.

RATES ARE EXCESSIVE

City Asked to Pay Twice as Much as Business Houses Are Charged.

The combination of German newspapers, which have attempted to get contracts for city printing at exorbitant rates, will be subjected to a thorough investigation by members of the City Council next Tuesday.

William H. Hauschulte, acting chairman of the Council's Committee on Ways and Means, told a reporter for the Post-Dispatch Saturday that he will notify proprietors of the Abend Anzeiger, Westliche Post and Amerika to appear and explain the wide disparity between the charges made by English newspapers for doing city printing and the prices asked by the combination.

Every member of the City Council will be requested to attend the inquiry and participate in the cross-examination.

Members of the City Council were astounded when their attention was called by the Post-Dispatch to the excessive rates for the city's advertising demanded by the German newspaper combination. The situation was discussed in the Council Chamber before the meeting Friday afternoon and all the members, save two, favored a searching investigation before the bids reported by the City Register were passed upon.

The Council wishes to know why the German paper submitting the lowest bid asks MORE THAN TWICE AS MUCH for the same amount of printing AS IS ASKED BY THE ENGLISH PAPER submitting the lowest bid.

Council Wants to Know Why.

The Council wishes to know why the German papers bid prices from two to three times greater than those which they give to business houses that use a SMALLER amount of space than the city does annually.

The Council wishes to know why the German papers which accept advertisements to be set in hand display type for from 2 to 4 cents a line, ask the city to pay from 7 to 10 cents a line for machine set.

Acting Chairman William H. Hauschulte of the Ways and Means Committee, which has before it the report of the City Register on the bids for advertising, wishes information on these points. He will not report the bids to the Council until he is satisfied that he has obtained all the information essential to a proper report. Julius Lesser, the chairman of the committee, is in New York. William R. Moellmann is the third member of the committee. Messrs. Hauschulte and Moellmann discussed the charges that the German papers' bids were excessive before the meeting of the Council Friday and agreed to delay reporting until a hearing had been held.

What Members Think.

MR. HAUSCHULTE said: "The charges that the German papers are demanding of the city an excessive rate for advertising should certainly be investigated. I am glad that the Post-Dispatch has called our attention to the matter. We do not know anything about the justice of advertising rates and must depend upon the newspapers to furnish us with the right information. I have been told that the increased rate is justified by the increased cost of white paper; but I observe that the Star-Chronicle bids 2.85 cents a line while the Republic, which held the contract last year, did the work for 2.90 cents a line. I am aware that the circulation of German papers has declined, yet the cost to the city for advertising will be largely increased if the Anzeiger's bid is accepted. I do not know what we can do, in view of the fact that the Anzeiger and Westliche Post—two of the three competitors—are owned by the same company. I happen to know that the Amerika does not want the advertising, as it would be compelled to increase its plant to handle the business, which next year might be lost. Nevertheless it is our duty to investigate the situation and a remedy may present itself.

"Looks Like a Hold-Up."

COUNCILMAN SAUNDERS NORVELL said: "There must be an investigation. The German papers' bids are so high that it looks like a hold-up is intended. The city is entitled to as low a rate on its advertising as a merchant and if it be shown that a conspiracy exists to charge the city two or three times as much as merchants pay for the same service, we should refuse to confirm the award."

COUNCILMAN FRANK P. CRUNDEN said: "We must inquire into these German papers' bids. The charges that a combination exists to exact a higher price than the service is worth must be investigated. It is nonsense to place city advertising in German papers, but I am told the city charter requires it. We must bow to the charter, but we are not compelled to pay any price the German papers may agree to demand."

Should Be Thrown Out.

COUNCILMAN ALBERT BOND LAMBERT said: "By all means there

FATHER SPENDS NIGHT IN SEARCH FOR CHILDREN

Peter J. Waldron Believes Three Little Ones Are With Mother.

SEPARATED FOR YEARS

Parent Disappears and Is Believed to Have Gone to Little Rock.

MISSING WALDRON CHILDREN SOUGHT IN ARKANSAS

MARGARET WALDRON—Eight years old and small for her age. Blue eyes and brown hair. She wore a blue gingham dress, black shoes and stockings and no hat.

ANNA WALDRON—Twelve years old. Tall and slender. Blue eyes and brown hair. She wore a pink gingham dress and black shoes and stockings and was bareheaded.

JAMES WALDRON—Ten years old. Medium height. Brown hair and eyes. Wore a navy blue suit with short trousers, a blue serge cap, black shoes and stockings.

While on their way to the Sherman Public School at Vandeventer and Flad avenues the three children of Peter J. Waldron disappeared in fashionable Compton Heights.

They left their home at 4022 Russell avenue at 7:30 a. m., Friday. Ten minutes later they were seen on Flora boulevard, near Vandeventer avenue. There the trail stops.

The children are Annie Waldron, 12; James Waldron, 10, and Margaret Waldron, 8. Their father has been searching for them for more than 30 hours.

Grief-stricken, he walked the streets all night, but his quest was unavailing.

He was out again at dawn and neighbors said they believed he had gone to Little Rock, Ark., where his divorced wife, the mother of the children, lives.

His sister, Miss Sarah Waldron, who has cared for the children for four years, said Saturday that her brother did not tell her that he was going to Little Rock. She understood that he was continuing his search here.

So far as has been learned, the last person in the neighborhood who saw the children is Miss Catherine Gaffney of 4010 Russell avenue, daughter of Police Captain Gaffney.

Chum Sees Children.

Florence Sweeney, 12 years old, of 4027 Russell avenue, saw the children when they left their home. She and the Waldron children were chums. Each morning before going to school they would attend services at St. Margaret's Catholic Church, at Flad and Vandeventer avenues.

Investigation shows that the Waldron children did not go to church Friday morning, though they said they were going to do so, when they left home.

"I saw them leave the house at 7:30," Florence said; "that was nearly half an hour earlier than usual. I watched them walk east on Russell avenue, until they came to a vacant lot next to Capt. Gaffney's house. That was the last I saw of them."

"I saw the children walk south across the lot next to our house," Miss Gaffney said. "I watched them until they stepped into Flora boulevard, the next street south. I turned my head, and when I looked again the children were not in sight."

Not at Service.

Joseph Harris, sexton of St. Margaret's Church, said that he noted the absence of the Waldron children from the morning service and wondered why they were not there. No one in the neighborhood of the church and of the school remembers seeing them there Friday.

Waldron is foreman of the mechanical department of the United Railways Co. He has laid off to search for the children.

He and his wife separated seven years ago, and since then a divorce has been obtained.

There was an agreement by which the father was to have the custody of the children. He went to Little Rock and obtained possession of them four years ago.

Recently Waldron was informed that his former wife had married again. So far as he knows, she is still living in Little Rock.

The children are exceptionally bright, and it has been suggested that they may have carried out a plan to visit their mother.

So far Waldron and his sister have been unable to learn whether the children took a train.

JAPS NEARLY KILL CONDUCTOR

Infuriated When Canadian Train Hits Their Car.

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 29.—Eighty infuriated Japanese nearly killed Thomas Hughes, conductor on a Canadian Pacific freight train, and put the other members of the crew to flight, when the freight train accidentally derailed a car in which the Japanese workmen were riding.

The Japanese then made their escape. Warrants have been sworn out for the ringleaders. Hughes was removed to his home at Revelstoke.

DIVORCEE WHO FIRED THRICE AT MOTHER OF HER SUITOR

MISS ARTIE DAVIS.

DOORMAT SAVES WOMAN SHOT BY A GIRL VISITOR

Divorcee Fires at Friend's Parent, Who Tells of Her Dislike.

A doormat which she used as a shield saved the life of Mrs. Sallie Pilzer when Miss Artie Davis, a divorcee, fired three shots at her from a revolver.

One of the bullets shattered Mrs. Pilzer's right thumb. Miss Davis is a prisoner at the Manchester Avenue Station. She says that she shot because Mrs. Pilzer said to her:

"My son is better than you are."

Told of Her Dislike.

For a year until last Sunday Mrs. Pilzer's son, Robert J. Clements, lived at Miss Davis' rooming house at 2930 Washington avenue. His mother did not like Miss Davis and frequently said so.

Friday evening Mrs. Pilzer was sitting on the front steps of her home at 3143 Olive street when Miss Davis approached. The young woman was elaborately dressed in silk and carried an alligator handbag.

"Your son has a watch and a locket belonging to me and I want them," said Miss Davis.

This started a quarrel. When Mrs. Pilzer remarked that her son was better than her visitor, Miss Davis opened the handbag and drew out an ivory-handled revolver.

Mrs. Pilzer jumped to her feet and held the doormat in front of her. Miss Davis stood so close that the first shot singed Mrs. Pilzer's hair and powder-burned her face.

The shots and Mrs. Pilzer's screams attracted two policemen. They sent Mrs Pilzer to the City Dispensary and took Miss Davis to the Manchester Avenue Station, where she coolly admitted that she shot at Mrs. Pilzer.

Sought Jewelry, She Says.

"She had no right to say that her son was better than me," she exclaimed. "He has my watch and my locket. I went there to get them peaceably. He went into the house when he saw me coming, and his mother said things I couldn't stand. It made me so angry that I just couldn't help shooting."

Clements went to the Police Station Saturday and acknowledged that he has the watch and locket.

"Miss Davis knew I had them," he said. "I took them, meaning to keep them until Miss Davis fulfilled her promise to lend me $37.45 to buy a railroad ticket for Portland, Ore."

Clements is an ironworker. He was recently thrown out of employment and has been working in a tailor shop at 3143 Olive street.

Miss Davis is a handsome brunette of 25. Mrs. Pilzer is 46.

MOORE'S COURT COLLECTOR FOR A LOAN AGENCY

Justice of the Peace Admits Sending Letter Telling Woman to Settle.

Office of Martin F. Moore, Justice of the Peace. Fourth District.

To Mrs. Almeda Adams, 5015 Delmar boulevard.

You are hereby notified to call at my office on or before Thursday next, May 28, 1908, at 10 a. m., sharp, and pay a claim I hold again you in favor of the National Loan Co. By so doing you will avoid a lawsuit and save costs, as the attorney for the plaintiff has given strict orders to enforce collection.

This claim being for money loaned, there are no exemptions under the statutes of the State of Missouri.

Ten per cent of a married man's wages are not exempt.

Yours Respectfully,

MARTIN F. MOORE,

Justice, Fourth District, 1007 Chestnut street.

Bring this notice with you. Ask for Robert J. Carroll, clerk.

Frankly admitting that he had sent the above notice at the instigation of the National Loan Co., Justice of the Peace Moore declared to a Post-Dispatch reporter Saturday that it is the practice of his court to settle the claims of money lenders without subjecting them or their clients to what he terms "unnecessary litigation."

Will Resist Claim.

Mrs. Adams handed Justice Moore's notice to her attorney, L. C. Dyer, who has refused to settle, on the ground that his client has been charged too high a rate of interest.

"Mrs. Adams borrowed $20 from the National Loan Co. in December," said Mr. Dyer to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "She paid back $16. The loan company still claims $36.

"Acting on my advice, she tendered the $4 due on the principal and another dollar representing 8 per cent interest since December. This the loan company refused to acept, and notified Judge Moore to make the collection.

"Collection Agency."

"If suit is filed, as threatened, we shall take a change of venue to another court than Moore's.

"I cannot understand why any court should be turned into a collection agency."

Judge Moore says the collection feature of his court is in the hands of Clerk "Bobby" Carroll, who was Moore's predecessor in office.

"There is nothing unusual about this at all," said Carroll.

"I know that the same procedure prevails in other justice courts, and that the notice sent to Mrs. Adams is a

STONE SPEAKS SIX AND A HALF HOURS, GORE FOLLOWS HIM

Missourian Weakened by Ordeal, Which Comes After La Follette's 18-Hour Address.

JEFF DAVIS READY TO GO AND TALK TWO DAYS

Republicans, However, Expect Filibuster Against Currency Bill to End Tonight, as No One Can Take Place of Blind Oklahoman—Statesmen Are Worn Out.

LA FOLLETTE'S ORATORY JUDGED BY ARITHMETIC

Duration of Senator La Follette's speech, 18 hours 43 minutes.
Total number of minutes	1,123
Average number of words per minute	150
Total number of words spoken	168,450
Average number of words in modern novel	75,000
Highest number of words spoken by actor in play.	10,000
Former long-distance speaking record, made by Senator Allen of Nebraska, 14 hours.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—When Senator Stone of Missouri, after having spoken six and one-half hours in the filibuster against the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill, left the Senate chamber at 1:30 today, Senate leaders said the end of the filibuster was in sight, as Democrats were working to have Mr. Stone abandon his speech. The Senate recessed for 30 minutes at 1:25, interrupting Mr. Stone's talking. The Missouri Senator, at 7:03 a. m., succeeded Senator La Follette of Wisconsin as speaker. Mr. La Follette had spoken 18 hours and 43 minutes, making what is believed to have been the longest talk in legislative history.

At 2 o'clock, when the Senate reconvened, Mr. Stone still held the floor, but at 2:15 yielded to Senator Gore of Oklahoma, the third and last of the filibusters.

Argues With Foraker.

From 2 to 2:15 Mr. Stone protested against the point of order Senator Foraker had made before recess, that the reading of books and papers was in violation of the rules of the Senate. Mr. Foraker withdrew his point of order at 2:15 and then Mr. Gore succeeded the Missourian.

During the recess Democrats attempted to influence Mr. Stone to close his speech, the recess having been asked for by Mr. Aldrich at the instance of the opposition.

Word came from Little Rock this afternoon that Senator Jeff Davis would depart at once for Washington, prepared to speak two days, but Republicans seemed assured that the filibuster would end tonight, as there was no one to succeed the blind Oklahoman.

The plan of the Senate leaders is to prevent La Follette from again taking the floor. Should he attempt to do so, Rule No. 19 will be sprung on him. This declares that no Senator may speak more than twice on the same subject on the same legislative day. Yesterday La Follette at one time yielded the floor for an introduction of some bills and reports. Therefore, according to the leaders, he has already spoken twice on the same subject. The legislative day continues until adjournment.

La Follette, at 7:03 a. m. today, announced that he was "reluctant to yield the floor," but said he realized that other Senators desired to speak, and yielded the floor to Stone, after a motion by Senator Aldrich, the Republican leader, designed to bring the bill to a vote, had been ruled out of order.

Not Speaking for Bryan.

Before Senator Stone had gone far in his speech Aldrich broke into the discussion, saying he had seen a statement in the newspapers that "the Senator from Missouri is here with a mission to speak in behalf of one of the presidential candidates (referring to Mr. Bryan) and that being so, it is quite important that we should hear his statement."

"I have no commission, or permission, or request, from any candidate for the presidency to speak for him," replied the Missouri Senator. "It is one of those instances in which newspapers are entirely wrong," added Stone. He then proceeded with a leisurely speech, in a low and monotonous voice, consisting largely of the reading of newspaper articles and editorials against the currency bill. These readings were interspersed with brief debates with Aldrich. Not more than a dozen Senators were on the floor.

The longest previous speech in the Senate was that made in 1903 by Senator Allen of Nebraska, who spoke for 14 consecutive hours and succeeded in defeating the bill proposing to repeal the silver purchase law.

The record in the British House of Commons is a few minutes over 18 hours.

Had to Hold the Floor.

La Follette determined on his filibustering policy yesterday after he learned that an old rule of the Senate would be invoked to keep him from speaking more than twice on the currency bill. He then realized that if he surrendered the floor, he could not get it again.

As a result he gave an unprecedented exhibition of endurance. His own party was wholly without sympathy for his effort, and he had but few supporters in the Democratic ranks.

Throughout the day and night Senator La Follette sustained himself on a punch of egg and milk, and on one occasion, during a roll call, he ate a sandwich. He saved his strength by sitting on the arm of his chair and talking in a conversational tone.

Senator Carter of Montana, who, on the night of March 3 and the morning of March 4, 1901, used his voice to kill the rivers and harbors bills, was compelled to take a dose of his own medicine, and he did it with a wry face. His was not the only unhappy countenance. It was a wan and weary Senate generally that sat scowling through the night as Senator La Follette proceeded cheerfully.

Daughter Hears Him.

Throughout the night and early morning hours, the galleries were well occupied. Miss Fola La Follette, daughter of the Senator, watched the proceedings from the members gallery all through the night. Five other women remained until the conclusion of the Senator's speech.

Along the sides of the chamber, the couches were occupied during the night by exhausted Senators. Senator Warren, at 3:30, fetched a cushion from the coat room, and his example was quickly followed by Foraker, Gallinger, Hopkins and others.

The rule adopted at 1 a. m. denying La Follette the right of demanding repeated roll calls forced him to speak without rest from that time on. In all, he had succeeded in having 38 roll calls.

Through the 18 hours La Follette kept his equanimity and good humor. He frequently read from books and government reports.

At one time, having read one book for nearly two hours, he digressed to confess humorously that he had not been able to ascertain just what the author was driving at, but declared it was interesting reading.

Couldn't Hear Him.

Once when he stopped to sip a swallow of water, he spoke for a few seconds in an undertone with Senators Culberson and Gary. Senator Warren, from the other side of the chamber, raised his voice petulantly to complain that the Senator from Wisconsin could not make himself heard. In mock astonishment, La Follette gazed around the chamber slowly.

WAR VETERANS AND WOMEN HAIL MEMORIAL DAY

Flood of Flowers Is Lavished on the Graves of St. Louis' Heroic Dead.

GEN. NOBLE MARSHAL

Naval Reserves Also Hold Special Services and a River Parade.

The heroic bronze statue of Gen. Grant in Washington Square, on the south side of the City Hall, was garlanded with flowers and festooned with flags Saturday morning by relatives of members of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Ladies' Auxiliary to that organization, the Woman's Relief Corps and the auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans.

At the conclusion of the work of decoration, the national hymn was sung. There were no other formalities. Two score women were assisted in the work by many school children.

Thus began a day of memorial exercises on a scale never before attempted in St. Louis. Programs have been completed which will fill the day almost until sunset.

The participation in them by the militia under Col. E. J. Spencer for the first time in the history of the day's celebrations—and the heart interest manifested by Spanish War Veterans, Sons of Veterans, High School Cadets and school children, promise to swell the parades and crowds in attendance to proportions not known before.

Three Celebrations Planned.

The day includes three demonstrations—that by the veterans, militia and Sons of Veterans; that by the Spanish-American War veterans, and that by the Naval Reserves.

The veterans assembled at Washington avenue and Twelfth street, with Gen. John W. Noble as grand marshal, to march, in what probably will be their last uptown parade, to Union Station, taking trains there for Jefferson Barracks.

The Naval Reserves embarked for foot of Olive street on the Huntress, to hold their exercises at the east door of the Courthouse, then to march again to the river and head the great naval parade, the Huntress firing minute guns while blossoms are scattered over the water.

The Spanish War Veterans commenced their exercises at 1 p. m. at the Barracks, so that they might be concluded before the G. A. R. services.

Manila Veterans Decorate in Rain.

MANILA, May 30.—The veteran army and naval organizations decorated the graves of their fallen comrades and sent delegations to decorate the monuments of Gen. Lawton, Capt. Rotenberg and Lieut. Egbert on the fields where they fell. Flowers also were strewn on the graves of the Russians who died here after their retreat from the battle of Tashima. Five inches of rain have fallen within the last 24 hours.

Elks to Hold Services.

In addition to this, the Elks will assemble at 3 p. m. at the upper Florissant avenue gate to Bellefontaine Cemetery, and will be escorted by a band to Elks' Rest, where the beautiful ritualistic service of the order will be enacted.

William T. Lawrence will deliver the invocation, and the Elks' Temple Quartette will sing "Abide With Me." Richard Spamer will deliver the memorial address, after which the graves will be decorated.

The Spanish-American veterans will hold their exercises at the grave of Cullom Whittlesey. This is the first decennial anniversary of the muster of Battery A, Missouri Light Artillery, into the volunteer service in the war with Spain. The ceremonies and decoration of the graves will be concluded before the G. A. R. veterans reach the Barracks.

Lincoln's Address to Be Read.

When trains bearing the veterans arrive, they will form on the north side of the parade grounds, facing south, and will report to Grand Marshal Noble.

Regulars to Present Arms.

Col. Getty, in command of the United States troops at the Barracks will form his men facing the veterans, and the "regulars" will present arms. A salute will be fired, and the troops will pass in review, leading the way to the rostrum where the addresses of the day are to be delivered.

John N. Hutchinson of Fremont Camp, Sons of Veterans, will read Lincoln's address at Gettysburg, and Charles W. Heisenp of the Spanish War Veterans will deliver an address. There will be other appropriate exercises, after which the troops will break ranks and place flowers and flags on the graves of the dead.

Maj. Ross to Deliver Address.

Members of the National Association of Naval Veterans, the Commodore Foote Association and the Missouri Naval Reserves will join in the naval demonstrations.

Maj. Charles L. Ross of Ransom Post G. A. R. will deliver the chief address at the Courthouse. A chorus of 40 voices, from the McIntyre Singing Society, will render the music. There will be other exercises, and the celebrators then will march back to the river, where two miniature warships, copied after the St. Louis and the Main, will be launched. The parade will follow them downstream, the women scattering flowers and the Huntress firing minute guns.

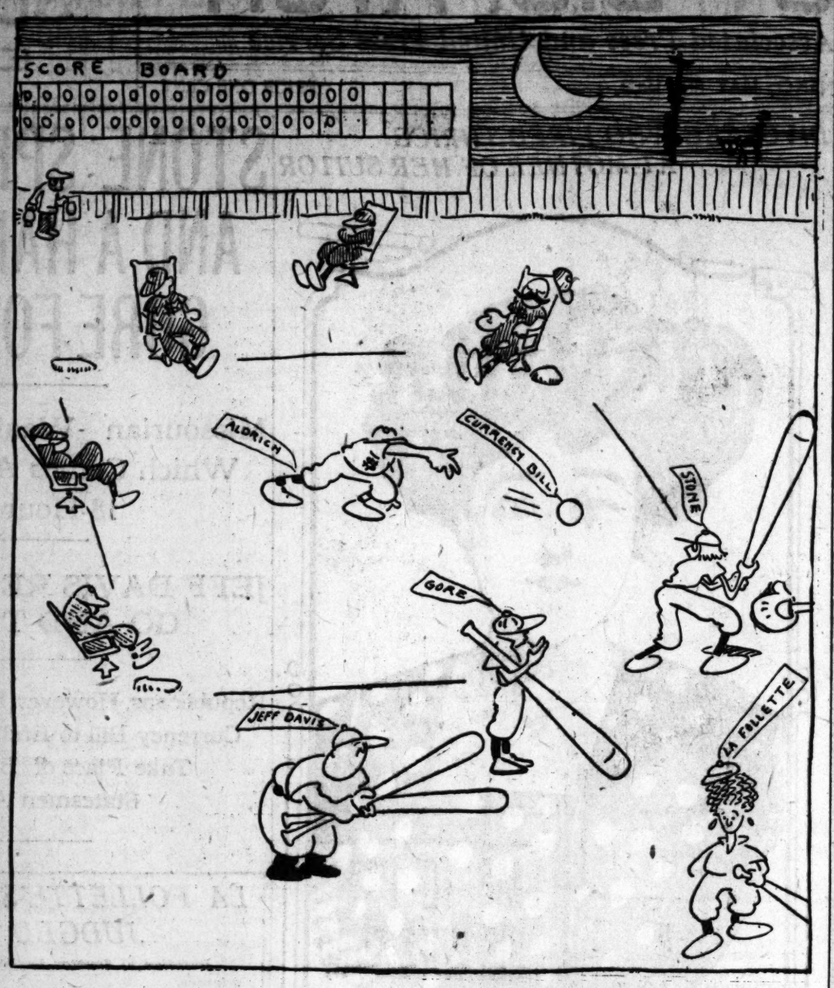

It was at first feared that enough cars could not be obtained to take the veterans and the First Regiment band to the barracks, but it was said Saturday at the office of General Passenger Agent Payne of the Iron Mountain that 12 cars would be in readiness, and that this would be an abundance.

Roosevelt Decorates Tombs.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—President Roosevelt drove to Arlington National Cemetery this morning in an open survey. He placed wreaths on the monuments of Gen. Sheridan, on the tomb of the unknown soldiers of the Civil War and on the monument to Spanish War veterans.

All Government departments and many business houses were closed. A boat laden with flowers was set adrift on the Potomac River in tribute to the dead of the navy and there was a parade of military organizations and patriotic bodies.

GREAT NATIONAL GAME IN WASHINGTON TODAY

DARING WOMEN SAIL IN ENGLAND BALLOON RACE

Five Nations Represented When Start Is Made From Hurlingham.

LONDON, May 30.—The greatest balloon race in the history of British aeronautics was started this afternoon from Hurlingham. It is held in connection with the International Aeronautic Federation that has just had its fourth annual conference here.

The winning point is about thirty miles distant, being the Olde Country Inn at Burchett Green, three miles west of Maidenhead. The balloons, decked with many flags of their respective countries and carrying the aggregate upwards of 100 passengers, were sent off successfully in a gentle breeze from the northeast. Several cars carry women passengers.

The nations represented are France, Germany, Great Britain, Belgium and Switzerland.

AEROPLANE IN RECORD FLIGHT SPEEDS OVER EIGHT MILES

ROME, May 30.—De la Grange won the $3000 prize offered in the aeroplane contests here this morning.

In the same machine in which he made a trial flight before King Victor Emmanuel early in the week he covered 12,750 meters, or nearly eight miles, in 15m. 26s.

The De la Grange aeroplane made nine circuits of the Piazza Darmi in its prize-winning flight. This is the best aeroplane flight that has been officially recorded.

Wright Promises to Beat Record.

PARIS, May 30.—"The flight of De la Grange at Rome today may be a new official record," declared Wilbur Wright of Dayton, O., "but it doesn't equal flights that my brother and I have made. We have tripled the distance made by the De la Grange and when I get my aeroplane built over here I will make a flight, carrying two passengers, that will make today's record look like a joke."

METHODISTS PICK SECRETARIES

Rev. Dr. A. B. Leonard, 20 years secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, was retained. He received 317 votes, against 286 for Dr. Homer C. Stunts, field secretary.

Rev. Dr. Thomas Nicholson, president of Dakota Wesleyan University, Mitchell, S. D., was elected secretary of the new Board of Education. Rev. Dr. F. J. Maveety, field secretary of the former Board of Education, Freedmen's Aid and Sunday Schools, was named as the additional secretary of the Freedmen's Aid Society.

Burglars Flee From Policeman.

The approach of Policeman Frank Lane frightened burglars away from the saloon of John R. Fontana, 813 Olive street, after they had removed the glass panel from the front door early Saturday morning.

LA FOLLETTE, IN 19-HOUR SPEECH, BREAKS RECORD

Stone and Gore Reinforce Him After All-Night Talk on Currency.

FILIBUSTERS CAN TALK NINE MONTHS

AS THE United States Senate has set no time for adjournment, and as the present Congress does not legally expire until March 4, 1909, the filibusters can talk until that date—if they have the physical strength—to defeat the currency bill.

"Mr. President," he inquired with well simulated chagrin, "where is the Senator who cannot hear me?"

Then he proceeded in a louder tone than before.

When La Follette left the floor, he appeared perfectly composed, and in as good physical condition as when he began. His voice showed no signs of the extraordinary strain it had undergone.

He said the only real discomfort felt was in his feet, which were swollen from standing so long. His back and legs also were a trifle sore from leaning against the chair. He went to the Senate barber shop, where he was shaved, then, refusing offers of a carriage, he took a street car for his home.

PAINTER FATALLY INJURED WHEN SCAFFOLDING BREAKS

City Hospital Physicians Think Kuhn Has Small Chance of Recovery.

Hammond Kuhn, a painter at work Saturday on a residence at Leonard and Laclede avenues, fell three stories to a granitoid pavement when the scaffolding, on which he was standing, broke. His head was cut, two ribs broken and he was internally hurt. He was taken to the City Hospital, where it is said there that the chances are against his recovery.

Kuhn was at work with another painter, when the scaffold broke in the middle, closing like a jacknife. The other painter broke his fall by catching hold of the scaffold and was not seriously hurt.

BITE OF PET RATTLER FATAL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 30.—Bitten by a pet rattlesnake, kept for some time in the bar of the Louisville Hotel, and thought to be harmless, Charles Conn, traveling salesman for a Boston law book firm, and son of F. J. Conn, superintendent of construction of the Queen & Crescent Railway, is dying.

The rattler has been one of the fixtures in the hotel bar for a long time, and habitues of the place had become used to it. The reptile had never before bitten anybody, and it was not feared. The snake bit Conn without warning, while he was a guest of the hotel.

MANY MADE TO PAY TWO FARES TO CEMETERIES

Women and Children Put Off Half Way as They Go to Adorn Graves.

Complaints, many and loud, were made Saturday by persons who boarded Cherokee cars, expecting to be carried to cemeteries on Gravois road, where they planned to make Memorial day decorations, and were put off at Itaska street, where they had to walk or pay another fare.

Most of those who had to get off were women with children. Some of them had taken along only enough change to pay one fare each way, and had to walk the rest of the way or go back home.

All the morning there was a crowd at Itaska street, augmented by the arrival of each car that turned back there.

Ordinarily only every other car is run through to the end of the Cherokee line. The travel was heavy Saturday, on account of Memorial day, but the through service was apparently not increased.

Didn't Tell People.

Although nearly everybody carried baskets of flowers or bouquets, showing that they were bound for the cemeteries, it was complained that the conductors of the Itaska cars did not inform them that the cars did not go to the cemeteries.

When Manager McCulloch was informed of the complaints, he said: "On account of light travel beyond Itaska street, only alternate cars are run through. Those that stop at Itaska street are marked 'Itaska.' Those that run through are marked 'Through.' If people get on the wrong cars, it is their own fault. No transfers are issued from the Itaska to the through cars. That would cause confusion. Those who get on an Itaska car and want to go further have to pay another fare."

BLIND VICTIM OF WOMEN ROBBERS WILL KNOW VOICES

Tells Police He Can Identify Them by Ear if They Are Caught.

Ernest T. Howell, a blind musician, living at 3146 Clifton place, says he will be able to identify the voices of two women who robbed him of $86 and a gold watch worth $75 early Saturday morning. He could give no description of the robbers, other than that they were women.

Howell and G. W. Serville, 1528 Olive street, who is also blind, were walking east on Chestnut street, and near Fifteenth were stopped by two women. The women asked to be directed to Union Station, and after getting the information thanked the blind men and walked away. Later Howell missed his watch and money.

Watching Charivari, Robbed.

While watching a charivari at 3410 Oregon avenue Friday night Mrs. Anna Baum, 3242 Oregon avenue, who was one of a large crowd on the sidewalk, was robbed of a gold watch and chain.

GERMAN PAPER TRUST'S RATES ARE UNDER FIRE

Council Holds Up City Printing Contracts Pending Inquiry.

should be an inquiry and if it is shown that the bids of the German papers are excessive—as they appear to be—they should be thrown out and other bids called for. I do not fear that we shall be unable to find satisfactory bidders who will do the work at a reasonable rate and comply with the charter provision. There is nothing to prevent an English paper carrying the advertisements of the city in German if the existing German papers continue their effort to gouge. At least, that point is worthy of intelligent consideration."

COUNCILMAN MARK EWING: The facts presented by the Post-Dispatch in reference to the seemingly excessive cost of city printing in the German newspapers warrant an investigation by the Council. If the high rates are maintained by means of a combination the truth ought to be shown. Then, if the beneficiaries of the combine are not willing to reduce their rates and obtain the contract on the basis of fair competition the Council may refuse to confirm the award and order a new letting. This can be done indefinitely until a just price is had. Incidentally, the time has passed when it is necessary to put the city to a large annual cost required to print its advertising in the German papers. When the charter is revised the provision for German printing should be eliminated.

An Imperative Duty.

COUNCILMAN ARTHUR T. FITZSIMMONS: I hold that an investigation of the subject of German printing is an imperative duty. I should be willing to introduce a resolution requesting a full inquiry. There seems to me to be no reason why the German papers should get more money than English papers for a less amount of work and space. If the German newspapers have any explanation of the high prices which they demand of the city for doing its printing, an investigation would give them an opportunity to justify themselves. There is no need of printing the city's advertising in German, anyway, and a presentation of the facts to the taxpayers will have the additional advantage of crystallizing public sentiment so as to make a change in the charter easy.

Cost of Translation.

COUNCILMAN F. ERNEST CRAMER: The German papers may be justified in raising their prices. They have to bear the cost of translation; the English papers have no such items. In addition to that, the cost of white paper has advanced by leaps and bounds. I don't see that an inquiry is necessary. I don't know that I favor one. Besides, what would be the gain if the rates of the German papers were found to be excessive? The charter obliges the city to have its advertising done in German. The German papers could simply insist on the figures they have named. Then the city would have to pay them.

COUNCILMON AL R. THOMSON: Newspapers grafting, eh? Well, if there is any combination among the German papers I should be glad to help prove it. I am for an investigation by the Council. I don't think the contracts should be confirmed until the Council has all the facts. In my opinion the Ways and Means Committee ought to be vested with the power to get the facts.

stereotyped form that has been in use for 30 years."

"What arrangement is there between you and the National Loan Co. and other money lenders?" Carroll was asked.

No Commission.

"None, except that their attorneys supply us with litigation. If I collected the amount Mrs. Adams owed, I would turn it over to the National Loan Co. There is no commission in it for me.

"And if she doesn't settle, we shall file suit against her Monday morning.

"The notice complained of is a perfectly legal one and I don't see any reason to complain about it."

"That's right," said Constable May. "Nobody has any right to kick. We were investigated on this question a year ago, but nobody could find anything wrong in the system adopted."

Justice Moore cited the case of a policeman who had owed $5 for two years.

"If that man," said he, "had been forced to incur the expense incidental to a lawsuit, he would have had to pay a whole lot of money. As it was, he was able to compromise on very favorable terms.

"Mr. Carroll looks after this business, and there is not anything in it for me."

New Public Printer Arrives.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—John S. Leach of Bloomington, Ill., for seven years director of printing at Manila, P. I., has arrived here en route to Washington, where he is to assume the duties of public printer, succeeding Charles A. Stillings.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

The German Newspapers and the City Advertising

HOW the combined German papers of St. Louis are holding up the city and exacting from it excessive rates for advertising is concretely shown in the following table, which compares the rate of those papers to merchants and to the city, and also presents the rates the city obtains from the competitive English newspapers:

City Must Pay Twice as Much as Merchants.

	Per line.
German papers' rate to merchants who contract for large amounts of space and require their ads to be set by hand at large cost	2 to 4 cents
German papers' rate to the city for cheap machine set matter in larger quantity than is purchased by merchant advertisers	7 to 10 cents

Competitive English Papers Reduce Their Rates.

Star-Chronicle's bid for the city advertising in English (same quantity German papers bid upon)	2.85 cents
Republic's contract rate for city advertising last year	2.90 cents

German Paper Rates Before and After Combination.

Westliche Post rate for city advertising in 1895-6 when the quantity was smaller and that newspaper's circulation was greater than at present	1.25 cents
Anzeiger contract rate for city advertising from June 22, 1901, to date	5.75 cents

Reduction of German Paper Rate Due to Investigation.

Anzeiger's bid for city advertising prior to the 1901 award	8.50 cents
Reduction of Anzeiger's bid in 1901 after investigation by a committee of the City Council	2.75 cents

"EXORBITANT BIDS RESULT OF COMBINATION."

"From inquiries made by your committee, they are strongly impressed with the belief that the exorbitant bids made for city printing during the last two years (1899 and 1900) by newspapers published in the German language are the result of a combination, which, if unchecked, will prove highly detrimental to the city's interests."—Report of the Ways and Means Committee of the Council in 1901.

GIRL ELOPES TO SPRINGFIELD AND AVOIDS A "FUSS"

Bride Didn't Want to Bother With an Elaborate Wedding Ceremony.

Miss Lucille Dunne, 2822 Glasgow avenue, was married Thursday to Charles Griffith Cohen at Springfield, Ill., by a clergyman of the Episcopal Church.

Thursday morning Miss Dunne dressed with unusual care, and her mother, who had suspected that she planned a wedding, accused her laughingly of preparing her toilet as if for marriage. Her daughter laughed in return and said that she only was going for a car ride with Mr. Cohen.

They returned late that evening and parted, Mr. Cohen going to his home.

The daughter confessed Saturday morning to her mother that she had been to Springfield with Mr. Cohen and had become his bride. Her only reason for an elopement she said was to avoid the fuss of a marriage in town.

They will live with Mrs. Dunne.

"IT'S ALL OVER," SAYS BALL

Candidate Professes to Be Encouraged by Prospect.

"There was nothing to it at Ste. Genevieve but Ball," said Col. Dave Ball of Pike County to a Post-Dispatch reporter Saturday.

Ball is one of the leading Democratic candidates for Governor. Both he and W. S. Cowherd of Kansas City attended the drummers' meeting in Ste. Genevieve, but neither did more than go through a handshaking stunt.

"Everybody down there seemed to be for me," remarked the Colonel, "I couldn't see any Cowherd strength at all. I'll win in a walk. It's all over now."

JURY IN WHITMORE MURDER CASE FAILS TO REACH VERDICT

Man Accused of Killing His Wife in Swamp Collapses After Announcement.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 30.—After deliberating 2 hours, the jury in the case of Theodore F. Whitmore, accused of the murder of his wife, Lena, in Lampblack Swamp, near Newark, reported to the court shortly before noon that it was hopelessly divided and could not agree. Judge Swayse granted their wish and discharged them.

Whitmore, in a state of collapse, was taken back to Jail. He will be tried again, although probably not until next fall.

POSTMORTEM TO SOLVE ALTON'S RIVER TRAGEDY

Cause of Woman's Death Will Be Determined by the Coroner.

A postmortem examination will be made at Alton Saturday to determine the cause of death of the woman whose body was found in the Mississippi River at Hartford, Ill., two miles above the Missouri's mouth.

"I believe the woman was dead before she fell, or was thrown into the water," said Coroner Streeper. Apparently she has been dead six or eight weeks. There was no water in her mouth and I think an autopsy will show that she did not drown.

Nose Is Fractured.

So far the only evidence of foul play is a fracture of the nose. Chief of Police Maxwell of Alton, who formerly was a steamboat pilot, says he believes the body came from Keokuk, Io., or Quincy, Ill.

He does not think it possible that it came down the Missouri River, as there is not sufficient back current to have carried from the mouth of that river to the point where it was found.

Rings and Clothing Cheap.

The jeweled ring found on the right hand has been inspected by Alton jewelers, who say it is brass and that the stones are a cheap imitation of rubies. The trademark shows it was made by Heintz Bros. at Buffalo, N. Y. The band ring worn on the second finger of the right hand bears the trademark letter Z. Experts say that it is worthless.

The woman's shoes and clothing were much worn and of cheap material.

Sees Foreign Workmanship.

Miss Tillie Neerman, an Alton dressmaker, examined the woman's clothing Saturday.

"I am quite sure this waist was made by some one who was not a native of America," she said. "That is shown by the way in which the cuffs are attached. The seam is carried straight down through the cuff, which is entirely different from the American style of sewing on cuffs on the bias.

"The garments are five years behind the style and they must have been worn a long time, as they are shiny and threadbare.

"The lining of the waist is of cheap cotton and the lace with which it is trimmed evidently has been dyed. The serge in the skirt cost about 50 cents a yard."

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

Barnes College Will Appeal.

Dr. C. M. Ament, secretary of Barnes Medical College, says that that institution will appeal to the Supreme Court to compel the State Board of Health to permit its graduates to take the State medical examination. The Board has refused to permit 75 1903 graduates to do so.

SOLDIER HOLDS KEY TO BARRACKS DEATH MYSTERY

Statement Is Expected When Wounded Man Is on Road to Recovery.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER

Assignment to Utah Post Is Halted by Unexpected Tragedy.

Private John Green recovered consciousness in the post hospital at Jefferson Barracks, but so far he has been unable to tell anything which will throw light on the mysterious murder of Private Oswald Schaden.

"I didn't shoot myself," Green said. "I don't know what happened to me. I didn't know Schaden."

It had been hoped that when Green recovered consciousness he would possibly be able to solve two mysteries that are puzzling the barracks authorities.

Green was found Wednesday on the river bank, near the edge of the military reservation, with a bullet wound in his head. The authorities supposed his wound was self-inflicted, in the absence of any statement to the contrary.

Missing on Recruit Trip.

Schaden was scheduled to leave the Barracks Tuesday night with other recruits for Fort Douglas, Utah. He was missed when the recruits were counted at Union Station.

Cap Clew to Mystery.

Next day a soldier's olive-drab cap was picked up on the river bank near where Green was found unconscious. There was a hole in its crown, apparently made by a bullet. The cap is now believed to have been Schaden's.

Dead Soldier in Uniform.

His body was fished from the river Friday at Herculaneum, Mo., about 20 miles south of the Barracks. The dead soldier was fully uniformed, with the exception of the cap. His throat was cut and his head gashed. A Coroner's jury decided he had been murdered.

Schaden was 24 years old and a native of Germany. He will be buried with military honors Sunday.

ONE FUNERAL FOR PARENTS OF DETECTIVE O'BRIEN, WHO DIE ALMOST SIMULTANEOUSLY

Father Passes Away Three Days After Mother, Not Knowing of Her Death.

The funeral of James O'Brien and his wife, Annie, who died within three days of each other, will be conducted Sunday afternoon from the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Longfellow boulevard and Lafayette avenue. They will be buried side by side in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. O'Brien died Wednesday in St. John's Hospital, of stomach trouble, from which she had been a sufferer for more than a year. Her body was taken to the home of her son, Detective Michael P. O'Brien, 2348A Rutger street, and the news of her death was not made known to her husband, who was at the point of death at St. Mary's Infirmary, for fear the shock would kill him. He died without knowing of his wife's death.

Two weeks ago the husband fell from the rear porch of his home, 1217 South Compton avenue. He was up late at night, attending his wife, who was then very sick. He stepped out onto the porch and fell asleep sitting on the steps.

While asleep he lost his balance and fell to the brick court, 16 feet below. His hip was fractured, his shoulder dislocated and his head severely bruised.

Arrangements had been made to have Mrs. O'Brien's funeral Saturday morning, but after the death of her husband it was decided that both should be buried at the same time.

Both Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien were born in Ireland. He was 72 years old and his wife 65. Their only child is Michael J. O'Brien.

PATROLMAN VINDICATED IN TRIAL FOR NEGLECT

Deer Street Bluecoat Proves Women Gave Him Wrong Information.

The charge of neglect against Probationary Patrolman Hugo H. Borges, Deer Street District, growing out of his failure to arrest a man who had insulted two women, was dismissed after the Board of Police Commissioners had heard the testimony of the persons concerned. The women said they had given the patrolman different descriptions of the offender and corroborated the officer's declaration that he had tried to find the guilty party, having gone so far as to arrest an innocent carpenter who had been pointed out to him as a suspect.

Thirty-nine probationaries were promoted to the rank of patrolman, having served a year on probation.

According to a resolution adopted by the Board at Friday's meeting, the police in future will have to pay for police property lost by them.

This time he will not be returned to his mother, who is a widow living at 2551 Olive street. He will be turned over to the Juvenile Court.

UNION ELECTRIC RAISES PRICE OF MOTOR SERVICE

Candy Factory's Five-Horsepower Machine Costs Double Now.

CLOAK CO. LIGHT HIGH

Pufeles-Ganz Complains Its Bills Exceed Those of Rival Store.

The Union Electric Light and Power Co. endeavors to show by curves and figures in its Saturday's advertisements that the consumer operating a five horsepower motor is benefited by 1st present schedule of rates.

The Plows Candy Co., 521 Olive street, of which Chaffraix K. Lackland, of the well-known Lackland family, is president, has a five horsepower motor in its manufacturing plant at 2016 Market street.

In September, 1905, when there was active competition between Union Electric and the Laclede Power Co., Union Electric made the candy company a rate of 4 cents a kilowatt hour, with 25 per cent discount, to operate this five horsepower motor. Discount off, the straight rate was 3 cents a kilowatt hour for all electricity consumed.

Union Electric Boosts Price.

This contract expired in September, 1907. At that time the Laclede Power Co. was in the hands of the Clark syndicate, which was negotiating its sale to Union Electric, and all real competition had disappeared.

Taking advantage of these conditions Union Electric raised the price to 7½ cents a kilowatt hour for the first 60 kilowatt hours per rated horsepower capacity, and 6¼ cents for all excess service. Under the 1905 contract the candy company's bills seldom exceeded $10 or $12 a month, but under the 1907 contract they are more than twice what they formerly were. The minimum in the old contract was $5 a month. Under the later one the minimum was $15 a month.

Wants to Discontinue Service.

Mr. Lackland has a 7½ horsepower motor in his Honey Boy factory at 2228 Market street. His power bills are now running up to $40 a month and over for this place, and he says he will very probably discontinue Union Electric service and install a power plant of his own.

"We are in a fortunate position with respect to our store at 521 Olive street, for we get our light and power from the Carleton Building and are not dependent upon Union Electric,' said Mr. Lackland. "Prior to signing the 1905 contract with Union Electric, I had been getting service from the Laclede Power Co. at 4 cents a kilowatt hour, with 20 per cent discount. Union Electric came along with a proposition to sell me electricity at 4 cents a kilowatt hour, with 25 per cent discount, making my net rate 3 cents a kilowatt hour. I accepted the proposition and signed the contract.

In Power of a Monopoly.

"When I found it necessary to renew my contract I then learned there was no competition and that I would have to accept the terms offered by Union Electric.

"I know I am paying more than twice as much for electricity as I did three years ago, and I cannot see how Union Electric can have the nerve to say now it is reducing the price.

"These electrical contracts are so complicated that not one business man in 50 can understand them. I have tried numerous times to figure out my bills to see whether they are correct, but the contracts are so complicated that I could not understand them.

"I shall install a plant in the Honey Boy factory as soon as possible, so as to be independent from a company that is conducted on the policy of Union Electric.

"I was notified by William R. Johnson, contract agent of Union Electric, that my minimum would be increased at the Honey Boy factory from $15 to $21.75."

Cloak Company Bills Are High.

The Pufeles-Ganz Cloak Co., 518-520 Washington avenue, complains that its bills, which have been running from $150 to $250 a month, are excessively high. The company gets its service now at 5 cents a kilowatt hour, a much cheaper rate than it could get under the November schedule. The company complains that its bills are much higher for a smaller service than those of a rival store across the street, which gets its electricity from an independent plant.

Max P. Pufeles, president of the cloak company, says while his bills are unreasonable, he never has been able to get any satisfaction in dealing with the Union Electric Light and Power Co.

Gets Shabby Treatment.

Theodore Crusius, a druggist, 3401 Manchester avenue, who is prominently identified with the International Bank, complains he was very "shabbily" treated by Union Electric regarding his fan.

"I let Union Electric have my fan for storage," said Mr. Crusius to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "It was lost, and I willingly accepted another fan in the place of it. It turned out that the fan given me was practically worthless. I requested the company to make it good, thinking it would be willing to do so, inasmuch as I had been lenient with it when it lost my fan. The company took the fan to its office and then had the nerve to charge me $4.50 for repairing it.

Glad of Fight for People.

"I refused to pay the bill because it was unjust. The company placed the bill in the hands of a lawyer and held the threat of a suit over m yhead until I finally paid it rather than go to court. The company has never shown the slightest inclination to treat me decently. I am certainly glad to see the Post-Dispatch take up the fight for the people against the Light Trust."

Bills Take Sudden Jump.

Miss E. Bottorf, 5009 Delmar boulevard, cannot understand why her electric light bill for service from March 27 to April 30 should be $4.94, when she paid only $2.87 for the month of January and $2.30 for February.

"I did not use anything like as much light in April as I did in January and February," said Miss Bottorf, "but my bill is twice as much.

"The company has examined my meter and pronounced it correct. I am only a small consumer, but I feel I have been imposed upon. Two electricians, who examined my meter, told me it was registering in the daytime, when no lights were burning.

"I had the wiring inspected and found that was all right. I told Union Electric what the electricians said my meter was doing, and was told that the ordinary electrician didn't know anyning about meters.

Money for Advertising.

"It looks to me like Union Electric is raising the bills of the small consumer to try to get money enough to pay for the advertising it is doing.

Mrs. Charles W. Webb, who has a studio at 5013 Delmar boulevard, complains that her bills ran up from $4.50 in April to $5.76 in May, although she is not able to see where she used as much light.

K. Scheller, a caterer, 717 North King's highway, says he is compelled to pay a minimum guarantee of $4 a month on a ½-horsepower motor, while he never uses as much as a dollar's worth of electricity.

A FEW GENTLE TAPS AT THE DRUMMERS IN CONVENTION AT ST. GENEVIEVE BY POST-DISPATCH ARTIST

YOUTH SHOT BY OFFICER MAKES CRUELTY CHARGE

Police Declare Prisoner Wounded in Both Legs Required Rough Treatment.

As the result of a midnight police chase, John Harthey, aged 19, 1118 North Sixth street, is at the City Hospital with a bullet wound in each of his legs. One bullet, fired by Policeman Hennessy, Carr Street District, is responsible.

Harthey claims he was beaten by policemen after he was arrested.

According to Hennessy, while he was walking his beat at 12:30 a. m. Saturday, he noticed two persons trying the front of A. Lentzner's store, 512 Franklin avenue. The patrolman concealed himself in the doorway of S. Turk's store at 518 Franklin avenue and watched. He says he saw the two move to the store of David Blum, 605 Franklin avenue, and try the door there. He started after them and they ran. Overtaking Harthey the policeman attempted to arrest him, and claims Harthey jabbed at him with a chisel. Several blows were exchanged and Harthey broke away and ran.

Bullet Hits Both Legs.

As he was turning a corner Hennessy fired at him. Harthey's side was turned to the policeman when the bullet struck him in the left thigh and passed through that leg and the calf of the right leg. Harthey fell and was taken to the hospital.

A block from the scene of the shooting Leo Sczezukow, aged 15, who gave his ddress as 1116 North Twelfth street, was captured by Policeman Brennan.

Harthey denies he attempted to enter the store. After he had been shot he refused to permit the police to examine him on the street, and he was taken to the Carr Street Police Station, where he again refused to permit an examination. Harthey said at the City Hospital Saturday four or five policemen at the station attacked him without provocation and gave him a severe beating.

Police Say He Resisted.

The police report contains no mention of trouble with Harthey at the station, but officers there say he showed fight in the station and it was necessary to handle him roughly.

They also say that when he was taken to the City Dispensary he refused to permit the doctors to examine him and it was necessary to use force there also.

Harthey said Saturday he was merely passing along the street on his way home when the policeman suddenly jumped from a doorway and shot him. He said he thought the policeman must have mistaken him for some other person.

Harthey's condition is not believed by the physicians to be serious.

AGED MAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Attempt to Cross Big Four Tracks Results Fatally.

An aged unidentified man was run down and killed by a Big Four train in the outskirts of Alton at 8 a. m. Saturday. He was crossing the track carrying a sack of old bottles on his back when the engine caught him.

He was rolled along the track 60 feet. He has a gray beard, a gray coat and blue trousers, and appears to have been about 60 years old.

ORATORY FOR DRUMMERS IS MUFFLED AT STE. GENEVIEVE

Col. Dave Ball Goes to Make a Speech, but Only Stays to Look at Decorations.

STE. GENEVIEVE, Mo., May 3.—Attempts to turn the Southeast Missouri Drummers' convention into a political meeting were a flat failure.

W. S. Cowherd, Col. Dave Ball, Harry B. Hawes, Ralph Coale, Sterling E. Edmunds and other politicians arrived Friday afternoon and laid plans for speech-making on the public square. There was nothing doing.

President Walter P. Kennedy of the Drummers' Association and William E. Leach, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, gently but firmly told the statesmen if they wanted to speak they would have to wait until after the convention.

Col. Ball stood on the corner and looked at the decorations and Cowherd took a train for Farmington, where there was no lid on eloquence.

The party headed by Harry B. Hawes and including Cowherd and 30 members of the Cowherd Business Men's League came here on Russell E. Gardner's yacht, the Annie Russell.

ARMED VISITORS WALK OFF WITH $600 DIAMONDS

Dr. Werner Says Men Who Called to Buy Jewels Committed Robbery.

Policemen are searching for two men who "held up" Dr. Charles E. Werner in his own home, 1911 Virginia avenue, Friday night, and ran away with five diamonds.

According to the story Dr. Werner told the police, he answered an advertisement in which it was stated that somebody desired to buy diamonds. He received a telephoned reply that the advertisers would call Friday evening.

Two poorly-dressed men appeared at 8:15, and the physician showed them the sparklers. After a pretended inspection of the stones, one of the visitors remarked that they would take the entire five. Werner was about to express his satisfaction, when he found one of the visitors had pointed a revolver at his head.

The two men put the diamonds in their pockets and backed out, with the revolver pointed at the physician's head.

Then they ran, separating and going opposite directions on reaching the first corner. Dr. Werner was late in giving an alarm, and the men escaped.

WHY?

A SURGICAL OPERATION

If there is any one thing that a woman dreads more than another it is a surgical operation.

We can state without fear of a contradiction that there are hundreds, yes, thousands, of operations performed upon women in our hospitals which are entirely unnecessary, and many have been avoided by

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

For proof of this statement read the following letters:

Mrs. Barbara Wise, of Kingman, Kansas, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For eight years I suffered from the most severe form of female troubles and was told that an operation was my only hope of recovery. I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has saved my life and made me a well woman."

Mrs. Arthur R. House, of Church Road, Moorestown, N. J., writes:

"I feel it is my duty to let people know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered from female troubles, and last March my physician decided that an operation was necessary. My husband objected, and urged me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am well and strong."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with headache, nervous prostration, irritability, fibroid tumors, backache and kindred ailments.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. Cleveland Goes to Ossipee.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 30.—Mrs. Grover Cleveland, her children and her mother, Mrs. Perrine have gone to West Ossipee, N. H. It was said that Mr. Cleveland will join them there. Arrangements have been made for the family to stay at West Ossipee until September. It is probable that Mrs. Cleveland will return to Lakewood in hope of accompanying her husband to New Hampshire.

LEMP TO PAY HIS WIFE $500 EVERY MONTH

In Addition the Brewer Will Contribute $6800 for Alimony in Arrears.

An agreement was reached in Judge Kinsey's division of the Circuit Court Friday whereby William J. Lemp, brewer, is to pay to his wife, Lillian Handlan Lemp, $300 a month alimony for the period since they separated until the present time, which will amount to $6800, and pay her $500 a month until their divorce case is terminated.

Judge Kinsey took under advisement the matter of the custody of their 8-year-old son and also the matter of a fee for Mrs. Lemp's lawyer. He announced that he would decide those matters next Friday.

Judge Kinsey authorized the attorneys to take more depositions in the case and appointed George M. Block as commissioner to take them Monday at 2 p. m. The lawyers would not say whose depositions are to be taken.

Mrs. Lemp's attorney has advised her to give up the Lemp home at 3343 South Thirteenth street without a contest, and it is said that she will return with her son to the home of her father, Alexander H. Handlan.

Mr. and Mrs. Lemp and their son were in court during the entire proceedings, but the husband and wife did not speak to each other. The boy sat with his mother and did not go near his father, but they exchanged signals and smiles across the courtroom.

CHICAGO AERONAUTS WILL MAKE FOREST PARK FLIGHT

Find Gas at Danville and Springfield Lacks Lifting Power.

Charles A. Coey, the automobile racer, and G. L. Bumbaugh, who built the balloon Chicago here, are coming to St. Louis to make a flight, according to press dispatches Saturday from Danville, Ill.

Coey and Bumbaugh tried the gas at Springfield, Ill., and then at Danville, and said they found at both places that it did not have enough lifting power to guarantee a successful flight. They announced at Danville that they would come to St. Louis Sunday evening and make a flight from the Forest Park site, where the international races were started last fall. Coey and Bumbaugh are members of the Aeronautic Club of Chicago. They do not belong to the Aero Club of St. Louis.

HUSSEY FAVORS A PARADISE FOR HOBOES' HORDE

Bill Is Introduced in House of Delegates Providing for Food and Shelter.

To provide a substitute for the Workhouse, Delegate Frank Hussey has introduced in the House of Delegates a bill authorizing the Mayor to form a commission and establish an institution for the employment of beggars, cripples and the jobless.

This combination of restaurant, lodging house and municipal woodyard would be situated "conveniently near police headquarters, where at any hour of the day or night any person may obtain a ticket good for food and shelter by performing a specified amount of manual labor."

The bill would give the police authority to take to this municipal restaurant and dormitory all persons found begging in the streets. After undergoing a course of feeding and manual labor the beggars would be expected to abandon that means of livelihood. Should any be detected in the act of "cadging," however, he would draw a fine somewhere between $5 and $50.

All crippled beggars would be committed either to the City Hospital or the Poorhouse.

Temporary Employment Commission is the name the bill gives the three citizens who would have to superintend the beggars.

Farman Sails and Wins Bet.

GHENT, Belgium, May 30.—Henri Farman, the French aeroplanist, today covered 1241 meters or 4028 feet, in his aeroplane with two men on board. His companion was M. Archdeacon. The feat was performed in a dead calm.

By this performance Mr. Farman wins the bet made with M. Cherron in March of this year. M. Charron held that an aeroplane would not be constructed within a year capable to carrying two persons, one of them not to weigh less than 132 pounds, a distance of 1000 meters. The odds were 2 to 1 against Farman. He wins $1200.

CAR SMASHED, THREE HURT, AT GRADE CROSSING

Loss of Lives Narrowly Averted in Accident on South Seventh Street.

The motorman of a southbound Seventh street car tried to race across the railroad tracks south of Pestalozzi street in front of a freight train. The freight train won the race, struck the rear platform of his car and threw it off the track.

If the freight train had been moving a trifle faster, it would have struck the car in the center, and several persons might have been killed. As it was, the motorman and several passengers escaped with slight injuries.

James Scully, the motorman, had his face cut and his right knee wrenched. Fred C. Schmidt, 1345 South Seventh street, and his 2-year-old daughter, Ruby, were cut and bruised.

Anton Bauer, the crossing watchman, says he waved his flag for the car to stop, but the motorman put on more speed and tried to beat the train across. The accident occurred at 9 p. m. Friday.

A Healthy Cow.

To be kept in your pantry—to supply milk or cream as you want it.

That's what Van Camp's means. It is simply rich Holstein milk, with two-thirds the water evaporated.

Produced in sanitary dairies, from inspected cows, milked by inspected men. Protected from all infection.

Then sterilized—that is all.

Nothing is altered, nothing added—no sugar, no starch, no preservative.

For cooking, Van Camp's is immensely superior to raw milk.

It supplies a rich and delicious flavor that you never can get without it.

The reason is this: Van Camp's is the whole rich milk.

All of the butter fat, all of the solids are in it.

Not so with your milkman's milk. The butter fat rises to the top of the can. Sometimes you get it all, and sometimes you don't.

And what you do get, perhaps, you skim off before the milk goes into cooking.

Please learn, for your own sake, what a difference it makes when you use a full milk like Van Camp's.

Van Camp's is as thick as thick cream. So thick that you add one part water for coffee.

Yet it costs half what cream costs.

Add two parts water and you have rich milk. The cost per quart is about what your milkman charges.

But you have no waste. The saving in a year is enormous.

Van Camp's has no germs in it. Raw milk is full of them.

Van Camp's is always the same. Raw milk never.

When drunk cold, Van Camp's has a slight almond flavor, due to sterilization.

That flavor in itself is delicious. But the certainty it gives you of absolute purity is more delicious still.

We have not for years been able to supply the demand for this milk.

But now we have dairies in five states, and milk 20,000 cows. We shall try to supply this locality now. So you can always get it.

We publish an excellent cook book, showing the exact cost of all sorts of milk dishes. Please write for it—it's free. Address Van Camp Packing Co., Indianapolis, Ind.

HIGHER BILLS ON "LOWER SCHEDULES."

If the consumers' bills reproduced in the Post-Dispatch mean anything they prove that the Union Electric Light and Power Co. actually raised its charges by the "new schedule" of November, 1907, under a pretense of lowering them.

The simple facts, plain to the eye and plain to the mind, are that under the "new schedules" of November, 1907, numerous consumers have been paying more dollars for a like number of kilowatt hours of current—in some cases paying more dollars for fewer kilowatt hours—than they paid before.

The force of this showing has compelled an admission from the company. Its plea of confession and avoidance is to the effect that while in "practically all of the cases recently published in an evening newspaper" the old rates have been raised by the new schedule, nevertheless the old rates were "special" rates below what the company could afford to offer, and that it was necessary to raise them "so that we could lower the published rate which you and in round figures at least 95 per cent of our customers have always paid." That is the gist of it, boiled down.

It is hardly reasonable to suppose that the cases published in the Post-Dispatch are the only ones in which the rates have been "leveled up." On the other hand, it does not yet appear in consumers' bills that actual charges have been leveled down in any instance, much less in general, as the company contends.

If it would prove its contention, why does it not devote some of its advertising space to publishing cheaper bills? Bills tell more in a minute than charts and experts in a year.

Higher bills are easily possible on lower schedules. In the company's charts are daily admissions that the minimum charge has been raised in every case under the new schedules. It is plain that the minimum charge alone in a given case where no current at all is used may make the new bills higher than the old bills were when some current was used.

The company's charts, with their two slanting lines, are perhaps more illuminating than they were intended to be. By reference to such charts it is seen that consumers may be newly classified and shifted up a reduced scale and made to pay more actual money than they paid when they occupied a lower position on a scale that was higher in its extremes, or higher on the chart.

We repeat, bills tell more in a minute than diagrams in a year. If the company would convince the public that the new schedules are cheaper, let it publish cheaper bills.

Let us have all the facts. Let us have a public utility commission and a thorough investigation of public service corporations.

Royalty is getting to be pretty democratic. The Dowager Queen of Portugal was sued for her butcher bill the other day.

THE AUTO POINT OF VIEW.

Park Commissioner Scanlan, interviewed Thursday in Washington, says that he objects to picnics in Forest Park because: "They would cause many persons, particularly children, to cross into the World's Fair grounds, where automobiling is heavy. Accidents might result, and for these the Park Department does not wish to be responsible."

One who signed his letter "Oliver" wrote to the Post-Dispatch on Wednesday:

Do you know that Forest Park is our only automobile speedway? If the people from the flats and tenements are permitted to hold picnics there many of their children may be run over by our machines, which is very annoying and injurious to tires. I confess the poor are more picturesque and endurable when seen in a park setting, but why see them at all?

"Oliver" was, obviously, in an ironical mood, and yet how accurately he depicts the Scanlan point of view.

If excessive regulation is necessary in Forest Park it should fall upon the speeding automobilists and not upon the children.

The secret of the Wright flying machine is out, but, oddly enough, to the uninstructed it is just as much of a secret as ever.

THEY ARE SHOCKED.

There is a growing agitation in New York State designed to persuade or compel Thomas C. Platt to resign his seat in the United States Senate.

In 1881 this same Thomas C. Platt was a member of the United State Senate and resigned, as Me-Too to Roscoe Conkling. In the midst of the agitation ensuing, and while the two men were moving heaven and earth to obtain a "vindication" in the shape of a re-election, a woman appeared in the story, along with locked doors, transome windows, spies, detectives and bellboys. Platt failed of election that time, but he got it afterward. The people of New York knew all about him then. The Mae Wood of 1881 was just as conspicuous as the Mae Wood of 1908. If such scandals are so distasteful to New Yorkers, why didn't they send the man about his business once for all? Instead they let him slink back and again disgrace himself and the State.

We hear much of the power of the boss, but no boss is powerful enough to get the better of a people determined to be politically well served, and awake to their own community interest and reputation. Platt will probably not humor the New Yorkers by gratifying their modest wishes. He got all he wanted in the way of resignation in 1881.

More than a year has passed since the State Legislature passed an act empowering Municipal Assemblies to protect the people of cities from monopoly oppression by regulating the charges and service conditions of public utility corporations. In St. Louis all the public utilities are monopolized under the control of a monster foreign holding company. Yet the Municipal Assembly has not taken the first step towards regulating the public utility corporations; it has not provided for a commission to ascertain the facts upon which to base just regulations. The two branches of the Municipal Assembly are wrangling over differences while the people of St. Louis are without protection from the oppression-at-will power of monopoly. How long will the Municipal Assembly neglect its manifest duty to the people? How long will the people submit with patience to this neglect?

THAT PRINTING COMBINE GRAB.

The bids for city printing are now in the hands of the Ways and Means Committee of the Council. That body cannot ignore the manifold evidences of a combine of German newspapers to profit by a printing grab. An investigation of the kind pursued by the Council with salutary effect in 1901 is imperative.

The Post-Dispatch has pointed out the great disparity between the lowest bid for the English printing and the lowest bid for German printing; it has exhibited the great excess for years of the price and cost of German printing over English printing and invariable uniformity of high bidding by the German papers; it has shown the enormous growth of the cost of German printing since the organization of the German-American Press Association. The price asked by the Anzeiger for cheap machine printing of the city's records is twice the price asked merchants by German papers for costly hand-printed advertisements.

Why should the English printing, with better circulation, be done for one-third the cost of German printing? What is the circulation of the high-bidding German papers? What is the cost of the work? What is the agreement between the one independent German paper and the two consolidated papers, by which competition in city printing is eliminated?

The Council should compel answers to these questions and bring out all the facts of the combine. It should protect the city from a printing combine grab.

Jerome defends himself by attacking his accusers. This is the logical method. Show that that is black and you prove that this is white.

DROUTH IN KANSAS.

Kansas was always odd and now she appears positively queer. One of the main bullish factors in the wheat market of late has been the complaint of drouth in Kansas.

To us of this neighborhood the complaint sounds like affectation. It fails to convince. Our imagination cannot comprehend such a condition of things. We find it impossible to sympathize with the afflicted sister, though we should be only too glad to share our own wetness, in a neighborly way. We have enough and to spare, and the rain crows are making a noise like more.

The Kansas complaint, withal, is something to be thankful for, from our point of view, serving, as it does, to stimulate the wholesome philosophy within us and remind us that too much wet weather is by no means worse than not enough. At the same time it is comfortable to be reassured that there is too much sunshine somewhere.

Elinor Glyn went slumming in Rawhide, Nev. Readers of "Three Weeks" don't have to go to Rawhide for that purpose.

A ST. LOUIS HISTORICAL PAGEANT.

Every St. Louisan will want to see a fitting celebration of the centenary of our incorporation as a town in 1809.

A suggestion for the main feature of the celebration may be found in the great historical pageants which have recently delighted all the towns and shires of England. The great events of English history have been represented, painters, professors, landscape artists and antiquarians co-operating to make it a living rehearsal of the long procession of English greatness. There have been seen on an open plain, the field of Runnymede with the King and knights in armor, the barons, bishops and great clerks of the thirteenth century. The Wars of the Roses have been illustrated and Naseby and Marston Moor passed in review. The Edwards and Henrys of the early and middle periods, followed by Elizabeth, the Stuarts, Cromwell, William, Anne and the Georges—all have been represented in costume on a stage which reproduced as nearly as possible the actual stage on which the great drama was enacted.

By a similar pageant we can make the old St. Louis live again. We can witness the coming of Laclede, the Indians, the traders, the building of the first house and the departure of Lewis and Clark on their journey to the Northwest. If the land can be obtained the whole village can be rebuilt, or portions of it. Then there are the events following the Louisiana cession. Tom Benton might refight his duels with some of his dearest foes. He could at least repeat that speech: "There is the East, there is India." Capt. U. S. Grant might haul a load of wood to town. We could sell a few slaves on the steps of the Courthouse. The stirring events of the Civil War will pass before us; the great tornado of 1896 can be brought vividly to mind by means of the scenic painters' art, Erastus Wells' horse car can be run from Fourth to Twelfth street. The whole history of the city can be told in something like living words.

It will be a pageant worthy of our past achievements and a witness of the city's power for future work. As a means of education it will be unsurpassable, and as a stimulus to patriotism and pride will be worth a thousand dry rehearsals in the history books. There will be no claptrap or tawdry irrelevancies in such a pageant. Every feature will mean something. It will satisfy good sense and good taste; and finally, if it is produced on a big enough scale, will advertise the city as it never has been advertised, save by the World's Fair of 1904.

An historical pageant—that is the thing. It will worthily celebrate the centenary of the town of St. Louis.

Fearsome souls who think the power of the executive is growing far beyond the bounds of its constitutional measure should take a look at the Speaker of the House. T. B. Reed, the first "Czar," was a feeble force compared with Joe Cannon and his black cigar.

RESTORING CONFIDENCE WITH FACTS.

The National Prosperity Association displays high intelligence in its efforts at promoting prosperity by common consent.

Having established a common consent as to employment day and having obtained assurances that many concerns are about to resume or increase activity, the association now turns its attention to gathering proofs of what its plan has already accomplished. The plentiful statistics of business improvement since May 1, directly accelerated by the common consent idea, will beget a wider common consent.

If nothing destroys confidence like rumor, nothing restores it like facts. Once a strong trend of improvement is proved, however, and recovery becomes general—confidence becomes irresistible. Business is like a political band wagon. When it is really started, everybody scrambles to get on. The National Prosperity Association is a big wheel horse on the business band wagon. The latter has already begun to move, and soon should be traveling at a convincing rate. The really smart business man, however, will get on now and assure himself of a seat. Besides, there is some distinction in getting on early.

Congress refused to give Mr. Roosevelt the four battleships he yearned for with a mighty yearning. But at the next session he may get an appropriation for a couple of airships which will put all battleships out of business.

Nobody takes the man seriously who takes himself too seriously. If Senator Beveridge lives long enough he will learn this profound and fundamental truth and perhaps profit by it.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Missed "Oliver's" Irony.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"Oliver" says that running over people is very injurious to the tires of automobiles, and also that the park is no place for the poor people of St. Louis. If this is the case, what is the public park for? Is it for the rich only? Who pays the taxes that improve the park? The rich only? No. Is this the way to get a million population? He must have no regard for the common class of people who do not live beyond their means and who increase the population of every large city. They are human beings and enjoy their portion of the results which have been gotten by the taxes which they have forwarded in order to make such a place possible. If you wish to have it for the rich only, let the rich pay for it.

A TAXPAYER, NOT A CRANK.

Is Poverty a Disease?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

As so many questions of importance to the people have been discussed in your columns, I would like to present the subject of poverty. Is it a disease, and if so, is it a curable one? I have been working 20 years, early and late, to make in any honorable way a living and at the same time lay aside a little with which to start a business of my own, but alas, just as I am about to realize my fondest hope, the proverbial "rainy day" sets in and my little savings melt away like a snowball in August. It seems I can just get so far and no farther, that I can just have so much and no more. Is it environment? I am almost certain that I did not inherit it, for all my people for two or three generations back were thrifty, well-to-do people. It must be a disease I have contracted. If so, and if there be a cure for it, without sacrifice of principle, will some kind reader suggest it to one who is weary of sowing and never to reap?

MRS. LONG NICKELSWORTH.

Climate and Work.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have made two trips out West, looking for better climate and a chance to make a living. I found the climate out there, and also found that it is no place for a poor man. The railroads are the chief boosters of the City of Sunshine and Flowers. They sell you a cheap ticket out there and it costs twice as much to come back. When you land in Los Angeles the boosters and real estate sharks will take care of you. Those fellows that went out there and got in on the ground floor or have some other graft, have their pictures in the papers at different times and tell why they came to Los Angeles, etc. There are some rich people there, but most of the people exist by running boarding or rooming houses and there's thousands of such places. There are lots of poor devils out there right now that cannot get away. They haven't the price. The railroads tell of wages paid out there for laborers and mechanics, from two to six dollars per day, and you can't get a job washing dishes. I found these conditions out there before the panic struck the place.

WILLIAM ROBSON,
3431 Morgan street.

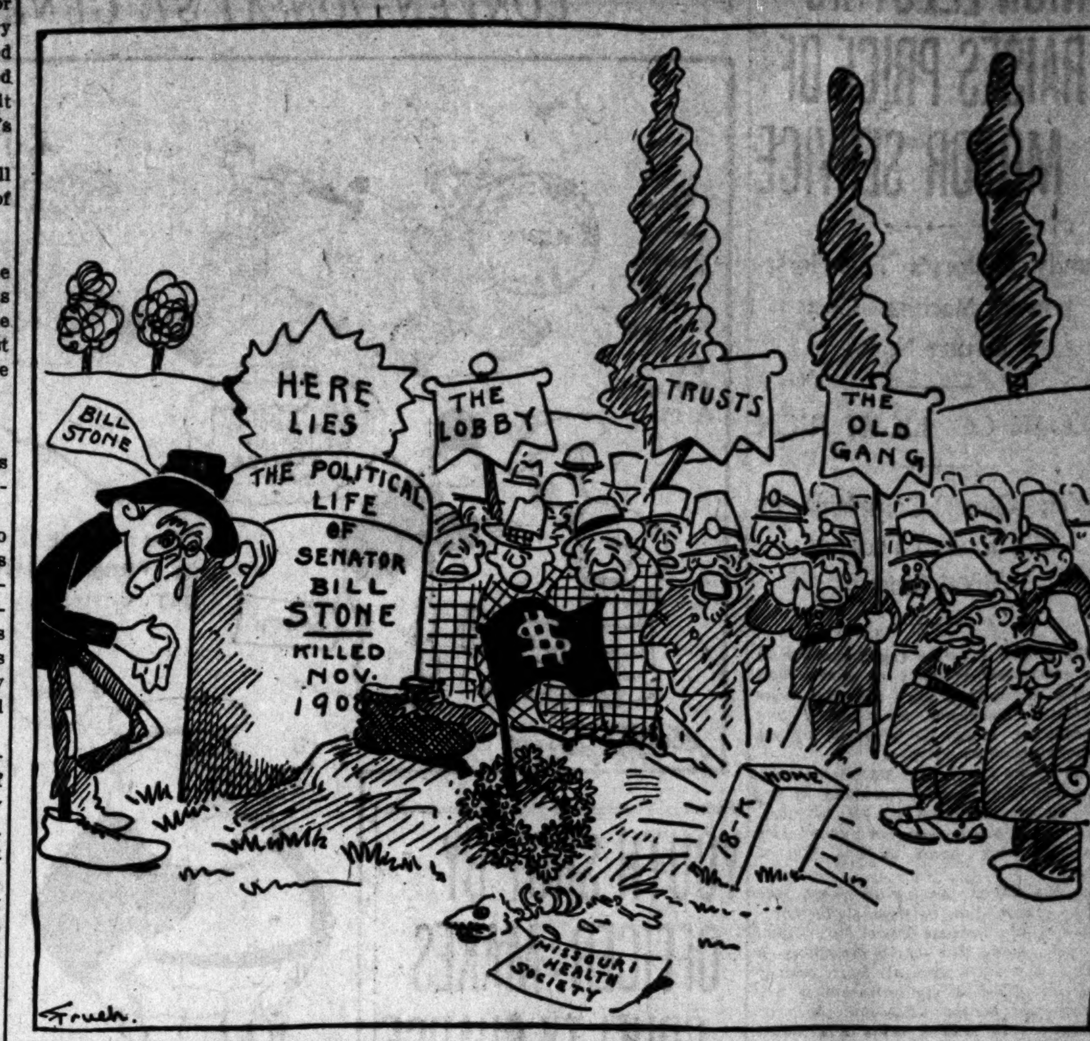

A St. Louis Show Place.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I am from Detroit and arrived at St. Louis on Monday on a visit to my brother. We were speaking of the beauty and cleanliness of Detroit as compared with St. Louis. He took me to the Union Station, which he said was the largest and finest in the world. To show me more of the wonders of this city, he took me down on an elevator so that I could see the fine subway built by the Terminal Railroad Association, but all I could see in that subway was a number of men pulling heavily laden trucks of freight through water away above their shoes and this is one of the wonders of St. Louis! It had certainly rained heavily on Wednesday afternoon, but what was the matter with the sewers? I visited this place on Thursday and Friday and found that the stench from the subway, from the stagnant water, spilled milk and other refuse was certainly intolerable. The T. R. R. A. had paid no attention to the health of these poor expressmen who had to work through there and pass through there perhaps fifty times a day. I would not be surprised if some of these men will contract a fever that may be their ending. I inquired of five different expressmen of the subways leading from Clark avenue to the different express depots had been cleaned regularly, but they each and all told me a broom had not been seen in that portion of the subway since last January, when expenses were cut down. Is there no Health Department in this city? St. Louis has a lot to learn from Detroit, as the people of the latter town would not tolerate a big company such as the T. R. R. A. is, saving a paltry $4 or $50 a month job where the health of its citizens are at stake.

But the blessin' that cheers
All the slow-wheelin' years
Is the love that blooms warm in the mornin'.

Arrah! Barney my bouchal, when I was a lad
I courted one lass an' another,
But the sorra bit comfort from anny I had
Till I came on the heart o' your mother.
Oh, her charms they were rare
In the dusk, at the fair,
At the dance in the house she was born in,
But her heart, it was found
When I happened around
Where she sang at her work in the mornin'.

Oh, the glamour o' night
Breeds a passion too light
For a dacint long life-time's adornin',
But the blessin' that cheers
All the slow-wheelin' years
Is the love that blooms warm in the mornin'.

Birds That Fight Windows.

"The mating season of the birds approaches," said a nature student, "and, if you live in a good bird country, your windows will kill off many a male.

"Male birds in the mating season become extraordinarily bold and fierce. Houses have no terrors for them. Approaching, they see their own reflections in the glass of the windows and mistaking these images for rival males, they dart indomitably upon the glass, to fall back stunned or bleeding, or broken-winged.

"I have a south window that I can rely on in the spring to kill me two birds a week. I grill them on toast."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Definition.

"Pa," asked little Willie, looking up from his book, "what's a 'mis-an-throp-ist?'" "A misanthropist," replied his pa, "is the sort of fellow who, after catching himself cheating at solitaire, decides that all men are liars and frauds."—Philadelphia Press.

THE TIME OF THE YEAR.

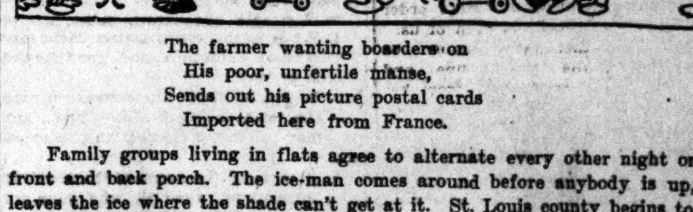

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By Clark McAdams.

THIS is the season when rich golf players work down the field followed by most of the comforts of life. Plumbers begin to perspire, and decide that what they really ought to have is $8 a day. Vacant lots are peeled and screened, and young men in duck pants and stained arms come out with their racquets and kill June bugs for points.

The train comes in from Bowling Green,
Which went for soda-pop,
And the wets out on the smoker steps
Can't wait for it to stop.

People who sifted their coal all winter rent their flats furnished and start for Europe. Soda fountains put on a half dozen more bartenders. June brides read the divorce news with many misgivings, but are reassured by the outlook for wedding presents. Show boats ply the river playing "Why Nellie Never Came Back," "Only Two Weeks," and "Lost in St. Joe."

The farmer wanting boarders on
His poor, unfertile manse,
Sends out his picture postal cards
Imported here from France.

Family groups living in flats agree to alternate every other night on the front and back porch. The ice-man comes around before anybody is up, and leaves the ice where the shade can't get at it. St. Louis county begins to pester Governor Folk, and the State Militia begins to practice sharpshooting at a couple of dummies representing Boss Essen and the Hon. Mark Gumperts.

The husband sends his wife and bairns
To some Atlantic bight,
And has his friends come in and play
Draw poker every night.

Fashionable ministers follow their congregations to the fashionable resorts. The hokey-pokey wagon jingles up the street under the sewer food and bug act. Ballooning booms, and crowds stand around sighing and exclaiming while Albert Bond Lambert or some other aeronaut starts for the refuge of Abraham's breast. The sky takes on the cast of fresh robin's eggs, the outdoor girl's face begins to rust, and men who knock off early to see the ball game wander around downtown looking for the Spring avenue car.

THE ANSWER.

The Union Electric Light and Power Co. will give you $100 for your vacation if you will explain one of its new contracts.

Looking Backward.

"Well?"

"Now I'm trying to remember if I was a blonde last summer."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

G. E. B.—Call at the Circulation Department for the information you ask.

A. B.—It is not yet known when work will begin on the new postoffice. Watch the news columns.

C. OF A. M.—So long as he does not impersonate an officer one can wear any kind of a star or badge he chooses; must not wear the badge of a society to which he does not belong.

ARMENTAL.—For information as to musical opportunities in Australia and South Africa try writing U. S. Agent G. H. Prosser, Adelaide, South Australia, and Consul J. H. Snodgrass, Pretoria, S. A.

DAISY.—Oranges and green salads, with oil, are said to whiten the skin. Onions, asparagus and all the spring vegetables are recommended. Avoid cooked grease and pastry, and eat with moderation.

E. J.—Pimpled skin is very common among persons under 25; it gradually passes away; keep the bowels open continuously for three months; eat plain food, with very little fat; take open-air exercise; friction, not too hard, is beneficial.

W. B.—Wallpaper paste: Rub smooth in quart cold water one and one-half pints flour, add four quarts boiling water; let boil slowly, stirring constantly 10 minutes; when cold, stir in one tablespoon powdered alum; never use warm; make thin.

ANXIOUS.—For acute sunburn. Dissolve one-third of a teaspoonful of baking soda and soap (preferably green), the size of a pea, in an ounce of water or rosewater, and shake in a bottle with one ounce of olive oil. Apply to sunburn.

A. Z.—For flatulency begin to experiment with your diet. Let it always be moderate and note when discomfort follows any particular food. Sweet, starchy or fatty articles should not be eaten. Take no stimulants with your meals and only small quantities of liquids. Rest half an hour after eating. Pint or half pint of hot water before meals has been recommended.

N. Y.—Creasy says the 15 decisive battles of the world were the battle of Marathon, defeat of the Athenians at Syracuse, Arbela, the Metaurus, Arminius' victory over the Romans, Chalons, Tours, Hastings, Orleans, defeat of the Spanish Armada, Blenheim, Pultowa, Saratoga, Valmy, Waterloo. Gettysburg was the decisive battle of our Civil War. Liaoyang was the decisive battle of the Russo-Japanese war.

IGNORANT.—Foods rich in hydrogen and carbon: Goose liver, herring, beans, cheese, rice, chocolate, figs, whole wheat, rye bread, barley bread, oatmeal, plums, butter, olive oil. They are force and heatmaking foods. Cottonseed oil (high-grade salad oil) is as heating as olive oil. Foods rich in nitrogen: Beef, fish, cheese, whole wheat bread, beans, peas, lentils, haricots. These are tissue-building foods. Oxygen is derived chiefly from the air; hydrogen, carbon and nitrogen must be supplied by food.

B. B.—Fumigation for bedbugs: Take all the metals and colored fabrics from room; paste strips of paper over cracks of windows and doors; put an iron or tin pan in middle of room, and in it put water to depth of three inches. Put two bricks in pan and on these place old iron pan in which you have put a bed of burning charcoal. Throw on few ounces finely broken sulphur and close door 24 hours. Repeat in 10 days to kill bugs that were not hatched before first fumigation.

A. B. C.—Home-made baking powder: Sixty cents' worth of baking powder made after this excellent recipe, given by Mrs. Alice Gillette, will last the average family a year. Sift together five times over two ounces of tartaric acid, one pound cream tartar, 10 ounces bicarbonate soda, 16 ounces flour or 12 ounces rice flour; keep in tight cans or bottles; it is better to fill a half or quarter pound can or bottle for daily use, so that the bulk of the powder may be kept closed to retain its strength.

G. R.—Most local Weather Bureau offices are equipped with what is called a tipping bucket rain gauge for registering the rainfall. It is placed on top of the building in which the Weather Bureau office is situated and has an open receiver at the top, about a foot in diameter, tapering to a small exit at the center of the bottom; under the exit is a small bucket divided in the center and working on a pivot one side of which is always under the exit and holds just 0.01 of an inch of water on the level, tipping when [illegible]. The gauge is in an electric circuit register in the office below, and with each tip of the bucket a contact is made, the circuit closes, and every 0.01 of an inch of rain is automatically recorded on the register sheet in the office; thus the time, amount and rapidity of rainfall is made a permanent record.

W. N. B.—Last October Rose L. Frits of Brooklyn, N. Y., typewrote 5619 words in an hour, with only 81 errors. Allowing for five words deducted as a penalty for each error, her average was [illegible] words a minute. Miss Frits won the $1000 cup offered by the trade. In New York Oct. 31, 1906, she wrote 3467 words from dictation in half an hour, making five errors. In the blindfold contest in Chicago in 1906 she wrote 4007 words correctly in 60 minutes. May Carrington of Springfield, Mass., in 1906, wrote, blindfold, 2690 words the first half hour and 2531 the second, a total of 5221 words in one hour, exclusive of errors, for each of which five words were deducted. This gave an average of a little more than eighty-seven words a minute. In 1905 she is said to have attained a speed of 125 words a minute and kept it up for a full hour. In the Patent Office, Washington, Mary Pretty wrote [illegible] words in seven hours. In Chicago, 1906, Charles H. McGurrin of Kalamazoo, Mich., wrote 4627 words in 30 minutes, an average of 154 words a minute. S. F. Cole of Catskill, N. Y., is said to have typewritten in seven continuous hours, 29,900 words—67 and 11-12 words per minute. In a dark room, where he could see nothing but the outline of his machine, with a stopwatch held on him and six witnesses present, John A. [illegible] of Ottawa, Kan., clattered [illegible] words on a typewriter in a minute. Mme. Revert of Bordeaux wrote 16,500 words in four hours, her immediate competitor being M. Dubost, who wrote 17,050 words, but as he made nearly twice as many mistakes as Mme. Revert the prize was awarded to her. Shorthand [illegible] Isaac S. Dement, with a test of [illegible] prepared matter with the [illegible] of rendering as remarkable a record of shorthand writing as possible, wrote [illegible] words in a minute, counting As a [illegible] preceding questions and answers. [illegible] Frederick Ireland, one of the official reporters of Congress, has frequently written 250 words a minute.

COL. TODHUNTER ON MINT MASHERS

A Warning Against Tennesseeans and Club-Fisted Bartenders Reported to the Post-Dispatch.

BY RIPLEY D. SAUNDERS.

RIPLEY D. SAUNDERS.

"WELL, suh," said Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter savagely, "if this-here increasin' desecration of the mint-julep caused by a fool bartender mashin' the mint instead of lettin' it wave fragrantly above the top edges of the glass ain't stopped pretty soon I'll be dadblamed if you ain't a-goin' to see at least one Missourian of Kentucky birth a-takin' the warpath in a righteous cause, suh.

"I used to think that nobody but a Tennesseean was ornery enough to deliberately mash the mint in makin' a mint-julep, suh, and even a Tennesseean is ashamed of what he's done after doin' it, suh, because he calls it a mint-smash instead of a julep, but changin' the name don't mitigate the crime none, suh. There's been an interstate feud between Tennessee and Kentucky for lo, these many years, on this very issue, and I ain't got no more use for a Tennesseean than I have for a snake, suh—'specially since Tennessee gave us Joe Folk for Governor of Missouri, and the fust thing he done was to clap the Sunday lid down so tight that I had to spit cotton from 12 o'clock Saturday night till 1 o'clock Monday mornin', suh.

"But I'll just be dadfrazzled if that ain't about all you can expect from a Tennessean, suh, and I wouldn't be a bit surprised if Joe Folk himself ain't behind this movement to kill a gentleman's taste for mint-juleps by mashin' the mint till it's like the last rose of summer left bloomin' alone, all its lovely companions bein' faded and gone, suh—only in this case it can't bloom because of the dadblamed ice on top of it, suh. What does Joe Folk know about the joy of a julep, anyway, suh? Has he ever dreamed dreams of beatific bliss above a tall cut-glass goblet, suh, with a long straw between his thankful lips, his nose just a-clearin' the air-kissed sprays of mint that smell as sweet as the meadows of Paradise, suh, with long trickles of good old Bourbon, just touched with a snifter of rum and faintly perfumed by the mint, a-wanderin' softly down his ravished th'oat till he wishes it was a mile long and his pipes so arranged that he could sing a hallelujah chorus at the same time, suh? No, suh—or if he has, it wasn't in his poor little soul, bein' only a Tennesseean, to appreciate the blessin' vouchsafed him by his Maker, suh!

"I tell you, suh, if this mashin' of the mint in a julep ain't stopped in Missouri, and if I find reasons strengthenin' my suspicion that Joe Folk is behind such an act of desecration and vandalism, suh, I'll take the stump in the approachin' campaign and beat him for the Senate as sure as my name's Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter of Missouri, formerly of Kentucky, suh. I'll make an irresistible appeal to the Democrats of this great and imperial commonwealth, suh. I'll lift my clarion voice till it becomes an overwhelmin' tornado to sweep back this impendin' shame a-threatenin' the fair name of my adopted State, suh. I don't care who's elected to the United States Senate instead of Joe Folk, suh—but I'll see to it that Missouri don't place the stain of infamy upon her escutcheon by sendin' to that august chamber a man who mashes the mint in a mint julep, suh!

"And in the meantime, suh, I'm goin' to make a point of havin' a personal difficulty with the very next dadblamed bartender that tries to do the same thing with the julep I order, suh—and I issue this warnin' for the bartender's own good, suh."

A Bunch of Leters Transformed Into a Novel—A Literary Controversy—Candid Reviews by Writers for the Post-Dispatch.

GEORGE HORACE LORIMER printed in the Saturday Evening Post a series of letters exchanged by members of the Spurlock family concerning Jack, the spoiled son of that Spurlock who effected the groceries merger. The publication was remittent and the form not adapted to the presentation of Mr. Lorimer's material. Apparently his original idea was to supply a companion to that clever series of letters from a business man to his son; but the vehicle did not carry the unphilosophical son as comfortably as it conveyed the father, made wise by much experience. The business man's letters were a series of wordly sermons on the best method to success. The Spurlock letters became a story of the clash between an overindulged cub and a father whose breath and blood was business. Mr. Lorimer has recast the letters, abandoning their form and has given us the material of them in a novel, "Jack Spurlock, Prodigal," which is in every respect satisfying. Few makers of books have the courage to sacrifice so much or the mental clarity which enables one to recast so cleverly. We miss from the novel the beautiful personality of Uncle Bill, who found content editing a little paper out West while his brother, Jonas, compelled princes of finance to "sleep with their fortunes under their pillows." But while Bill was an excellent foil in the letters, he has no value in the novel. He would only interrupt a straight tale of how Jack reached the limit of paternal indulgence, lived a soldier of fortune for a time and then found himself. The love story is enhanced and the humor strengthened. (Doubleday, Page & Co.)

"Lawless Wealth," by Charles Edward Russell, presents in one volume the series of articles published in Everybody's Magazine in 1907-08 under the title of "Where Did You Get It, Gentlemen?" together with several new chapters written to complete the story, telling, as expressed in the sub-title, "the origin of some great American fortunes." The Tobacco Trust, the New York traction monopoly, the insurance scandals, the Chicago, Milwaukee and Philadelphia street railway combiner, the Hocking Valley Railroad and coal lands merger, the fight for control of the Seaboard Air Line, the organization and operation of the State Trust Co. of New York, are among the subjects treated in the various articles now collected in book form, and the author purports to give enlightening expert information as to existing objectionable methods of "high finance." The articles were widely discussed while running in Everybody's, and no new phase is now brought forward for further consideration as bearing on present conditions. Mr. Russell has plainly worked hard in collecting the data upon which his articles are based, and tells his story with vigorous directness. He claims that the millions made from the big financial deals of which he treats were made by stock jobbing, over capitalization and bond jugglery, rather than by the development and proper management of great public utilities, and his plea is that these utilities be taken from the control of private individuals or syndicates operating for selfish profit, and controlled for the general good instead. (B. W. Dodge & Co.)

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, conqueror of Mount McKinley, claims for this great Alaskan Peak that it is the most magnificent mountain in the world. The height of McKinley is 20,300 feet. There are higher mountains in Asia and South America, but these start from very high elevations, whereas McKinley displays some 18,000 feet of actual mountain. That is, its actual elevation over the country around is almost three times the height of Pike's Peak over Colorado Springs. Dr. Cook first tried the ascent in 1903. He climbed until his progress was stopped by precipitous walls of granite and ice. He returned in 1906. His first attack was repulsed. He took a single companion and tried another side of the peak. On Sept. 16 they stood on the top of the continent. To the west they could see the Pacific, 250 miles. On the north was the Yukon, which drains that side of the divide in which McKinley occurs. The temperature was 16 degrees below zero. The sky was black as midnight, though it was 10 o'clock in the morning. The smoke of the volcano Mount Chinabora, 200 miles away, was clearly visible. Clouds floated below them—one—two miles, and through them—more than three miles straight down—were occasional patches of the earth. The roar of McKinley's never-ceasing avalanches rose from the depths like the crash of trains. Dr. Cook devoted two summers and many thousands of dollars to this conquest. His book tells the whole story—from the beginning of the first defeat, to victory in the end. He traversed a wilderness in which he found a canon 8000 feet deep, or almost 2000 feet deeper than the deepest point on the Grand Canon of the Colorado. He saw moose, caribou and bear tame with unmolestation. Mountain sheep flocked on the heights. It was all wild and wonderful. The natives call the big mountain Bolshoy, but even before Dr. Cook went there, our surveyors had given it the present name. This is a pity. Bolshoy means big. It was a good name, and it had the flavor of Alaska. ("The Top of the Continent," Doubleday, Page & Co.)

The protest is said to have been made to the publishers of George M. Gould's "Concerning Lafcadio Hearn" that the volume should never have been published. The basis of this protest is the fact that Mr. Gould handles Hearn without gloves, yet, if this contention were sustained, it would deprive the world of many enlightening glimpses at the souls of great writers. It is true that Mr. Gould is somewhat merciless in his analysis of the Hearn character. "Deprived by nature," he says, "by the necessities of his life, or by conscious intention of religion, morality, scholarship, magnanimity, loyalty, character, benevolence and other constituents of personal greatness, it is more than folly to endeavor to place him thus wrongly (as a "great man") before the world." And then Mr. Gould goes on to point out that Hearn's own letters amazingly paraded their writer's weaknesses—a correlation of facts indicating that Hearn is neither better nor worse than certain other unhappy men of letters. Nevertheless, Mr. Gould's book tells many interesting and creditable things concerning Lafcadio Hearn. We read of his luckless heredity, of his poverty, his physical handicaps, his temperamental burdens, his struggles and achievements as a newspaper hack, his indomitable resolution to accomplish something worth while, to become a master-stylist in letters, and we can't help but admire the man's pluck. Then we read of his picturesque career in Japan, in describing the life of which country he did his most notable work, and of how he sacrificed a lucrative professorship in the Japanese National University by becoming a naturalized Japanese in order that his little son by a Japanese wife might be birth-registered under his name, and we like him more than ever. You'll enjoy reading this book. It's the story of an ill-fated genius told with the baldest realism. (George W. Jacobs & Co.)

TALES OF DANGER TOLD BY OCEAN LINER CAPTAINS

A COLLISION IN THE ENGLISH CHANNEL.

A Recollection of Danger Written for the Post-Dispatch

By CAPT. D. HOGEMANN,

Commander of the North German Lloyd Kronprinzessin Cecilie.

IN THE lives of most seafaring men who have worked their way to the command of a big ocean liner there is little variance.

The majority of us get our schooling in the old deep-water sailing ships, the only real academy of skilled seamanship.

Experiences the recital of which sends thrills through the landsman have been to us a matter of almost daily routine.

In a ship hove to under a goose-winged tops'l mountainous seas that break over the weather rail for hours and sometimes days at a time, are accepted as a matter of course, and the officer of the deck will engage in no more exciting performance than pace the poop and smoke his pipe as he watches the men "forrid" dash along the weather rail to keep from being washed overboard by an unusually heavy sea that strikes the bow.

But with all of us, of course, there is some one experience that stands out above all the hazardous happenings and which we are tempted to relate when appealed to by curious passengers for a good sea story.

The few gray hairs you see up here I think were started one foggy afternoon just before dusk during the wretched month of March, 1892. I was then in command of the North German Lloyd steamship Preussen, running out of Bremen to Chinese ports.

We were feeling our way through the English Channel homeward bound in a fog that the lookout could not penetrate more than a ship's length ahead.

I was on the bridge with the pilot, anxious as every captain is in thick weather, with the lives of half a hundred passengers depending on his skill or judgment.

Simultaneously with the cry of the man on the lookout. "Something ahead, sir!" I made out the black hull of a steamer a little to port and headed across our bow.

Almost at the same instant there was a shrill blast from her, the first we had heard.

I signaled "full speed astern." Although we were crawling along at a speed of not more than five knots an hour, our vessel could not possibly come to a full stop inside of two minutes.

I had hoped for a brief second that we might cross her stern, but we did not lose momentum quickly enough, and in less than a minute from the time I gave the first signal we were crashing into the stranger.

The sharp prow of the Preussen struck her a little abaft the beam near the mizzenmast and sank into the iron hull to a depth of fully 10 feet.

It was a moment for me to do some quick thinking so that my next order might be for the benefit of both of us.

I knew the other vessel must be rammed below the water line and pretty deep. If I drew away from her the action must leave the gap open and in all probability she would go to the bottom before I could save a man.

The best plan was to keep the hole in her hull calked as long as possible.

My own boat must be the plug.

Even before we had lost headway entirely, I had signaled again "full speed ahead," and as the propellers were reversed the Preussen gained more headway and was soon pushing the unfortunate steamer along, virtually clinging to our bow.

As she was a smaller vessel than ours, her deck was several feet below our rail, so I shouted to my men forward to get as many lines as possible over to her.

The first one to land on our deck from the other vessel was a woman, who proved to be the stewardess. Then the men came swarming over the bow on the lines we had hove to them. I counted 40 all told and then shouted to their first officer:

"Have we got all hands?"

He answered in the affirmative, and then I backed off. From the time that we sighted the vessel until the two hulls separated had occupied a space of just seven minutes.

We then stood by, waiting to take her in tow if there was a possibility of her floating, but in less than ten minutes she had filled and, careening, plunged down.

Then we learned that we had rammed the Russian steamer Peter the Great, bound from a German port to America. We were off Beachy Head at the time, but after a brief examination found that the Preussen had been damaged so slightly that only a plate was pierced above the water line, so we proceeded to Antwerp.

There a court of inquiry was held, but I was exonerated from all blame and complimented by the court for excellent seamanship.

HOW A COMET'S TAIL GROWS.

NO bridal veil was ever so filmy as a comet's tail. Hundreds of cubic miles of that wonderful appendage are outweighed by a jarful of air, says Waldemar Kaempffert in Harper's Monthly. By means of the spectroscope we have magically transported this fairy plume to our laboratories, and have discovered that it is akin to the blue flame of our gas stoves; for the gas by which we cook and the delicate tresses of a comet both consist of combinations of hydrogen and carbon, appropriately called by chemists "hydrocarbons." When it first appears in the heavens, far removed from the sun, a comet is a tailless blotch of light. As a comet swims on toward the sun, the hydrocarbons of the tail split up under the increasing heat into hydrogen gas and hydrocarbons of a higher boiling point. With a still closer approach to the sun, these more resistant hydrocarbons eventually yield to the increasing heat and are decomposed in the form of soot. Interplanetary space is airless. Hence the soot cannot burn. It must pursue the comet in the form of a dust train. The particles constituting that train are small enough to be toyed with by the pressure of sunlight. No matter where the comet may be in its orbit, whether it has just entered the solar system or is speeding away, that plume is inevitably tossed away from the sun, just as if a mighty wind were blowing it from the central luminary. The appendage of shining dust is the symbol of the triumph of light over the other gravitation.

ELBERT HUBBARD ON LOVE AND DIVORCE

The Sage of East Aurora Interviewed by Letter for the Post-Dispatch

BY NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH.

NIXOLA GREELEY SMITH

ELBERT HUBBARD, the Fra Elbertus of The Philistine, author of "A Message to Garcia," of the "Little Journey" series and many other notable works, asked when he was married to his present wife, that the word "obey" be inserted in his portion of the ceremony. He said then:

"If I am willing to trust my life to a woman I am willing to obey her, because I have confidence that she would ask of me nothing that would be impossible."

"I met Mr. Hubbard some weeks ago at a dinner party with the wife he had promised to obey, but it was not until after he had gone back to the Roycroft settlement, which he founded at East Aurora, N. Y., that it occurred to me the views of this extremely unusual husband on certain domestic questions of the hour would be most interesting. So I decided to interview Mr. Hubbard by letter and sent to him a series of questions to which he has very courteously replied. My questions and his answers to them are given below:

1. What is the most lasting basis for a happy marriage?
   Mutual ambitions and good health—and health is a habit.
2. Is it love?
   No; it is friendship between a man and a woman of similar age who love the same things and have like ideas on questions of what constitutes humor. Going the same way, they go hand in hand and mutually sustain and encourage each other.
3. How may we distinguish love from infatuation?
   Infatuation is a love for the person or individual. Love is an admiration for the qualities of mind, body and soul that make up the individual. However, infatuation is myopic, with leaning toward strabismus.
4. What is the cure for divorce, or is divorce itself a cure?
   Divorce is heroic treatment for social and sexual ankylosis (stiff joints) and cures itself.
5. Will the reactionaries be able to stem the current of public opinion toward a more liberal life, spiritual, mental and emotional?
   Yes, the reactionaries are now coloring, tinting and flavoring the zeitgeist. People are living longer and better. Undertakers, doctors and preachers all report hard times. The world is getting better.
6. What is an ideal home?
   The place where only one gets mad at a time.
7. What should the ideal husband be?
   The husband who knows that he can live without being loved, but that he cannot live without loving.
8. The ideal wife?
   The same as No. 7, reversed.

THE LACE YOKE

ON one point French women have become almost slavishly unanimous, and no one dreams of disputing its importance for a single moment or seeking any bridle-path outside the highway of custom. This is the tucked yoke of lace or tulle. Out of a hundred new gowns, it is doubtful if one would be found which was innocent of this particular cornerstone in its construction, and probably it is greatly owing to this fact that the dresses of the modern woman, whether designed in pale or brilliant hues or in somber black, have never proved more becoming than they are at present. One noticeable fact, however, which speaks eloquently for the acumen of the Parisienne, is that the yoke in question is nearly always carried out in a shade of cream or ivory, in place of dead-white. Only those who have been endowed with the rich heritage of a skin of milk and roses would be intrepid enough to expose their faces to such a searching test as an expanse of dead-white tulle or lace, and with the pale olive complexion of the French woman, cream is infinitely safer and more becoming. In some cases the expedient has been tried of mounting the tulle over a foundation of gold or silver tissue, but the general opinion still remains stationary in favor of a transparent yoke.

FACIAL MASSAGE.

A PLENTIFUL use of cold cream, the kind that feeds the skin, and massages are the best cure for wrinkles. Each wrinkle has its own peculiar motion; up from the chin to cure the sagging around the mouth, gently down on the forehead for the horizontal wrinkles, across for the vertical wrinkles, a rotary motion for the crow's feet, etc. The motions are all circular, up, and out—never down. The best massage is after the Swedish system. It should not be too vigorous, and, with a fine skin, very gentle.

When the face is to be massaged, it is first washed with warm water, and then anointed very thickly with cold cream. After the massage hot applications may be made as described above.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR GIRL.

BY HELEN ROWLAND.

ONE week of actual practice in love making makes a man more expert than a knowledge of all the theories that ever could be invented by the most eminent board of education.

Many a man lives with his wife simply because she has become a confirmed habit that he hasn't the courage to break away from.

Marrying a widower is like trying to wear a hand-me-down garment; it requires real skill to get the creases out of his character put there by the other woman and to make him over to fit your disposition and harmonize with your ideas.

A man may not consider a woman immoral because she smokes cigarettes; but what he does consider her is far worse—and that's unkissable.

If all the men who need good positions would marry all the women who hold them they would not need to be worried about feminine competition in business; besides, there is not a woman living who would not gladly exchange a typewriter for a sewing machine and a career for a cradle.

When a woman ceases to quarrel with her husband because he stays out late evenings he is always delighted—and so is another man.

It is easier to walk over a man with French heels than with commonsense boots.

The original fox was a man; the original grapes were the girls he couldn't kiss.

Being a wife often means being a servant with the wages left out and the privilege of eating with the family thrown in.

A man's desire for a son is usually nothing but the wish to duplicate himself in order that such a remarkable pattern may not be lost to the world.

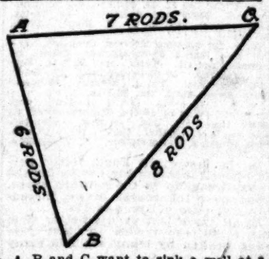

It isn't the girls whom he has loved and lost that a man sighs for; it's those whom he has loved and never won.

It is difficult to tell who is the most grateful to Fate for his sex—the woman who watches her husband while he is in the throes of shaving, or the man who sees his wife getting into a tight corset and a dress that buttons up the back.

When a wife induces her husband to get on the "water wagon" against his will he is likely to fall off with a fearful splash.

Lazy men fancy that the wheel of life is a roulette wheel, on which fortunes are won only by chance.

LOCATE THE WELL.

A B and C want to sink a well at a point that will be equally distant from their homes at the three points of the diagram. What's the answer?

R. Pondir, 1903 Bellegiade avenue, finds the distance is 67.41 feet.

C. E. Deaton, 3111 Rutger street, says it is 4 rods 3 feet and 3-32 of an inch.

W. R., C. H. S., limits the distance to 4 rods.

H. Carlisle, 3640 Flad avenue, works it out to rods, 4.472135.

W. E. Boone, 1336 Chouteau avenue, says 4½ rods is the distance.

Mrs. A. L. Franklin, 2822 Gamble street, finds 4 rods sufficient.

J. Hanek, 1108 St. Ange avenue, locate the well 4¼ rods from each house.

C. P., 722 Olive street, thinks 4½ rods is right.

Dr. F. J. McGann gives 4.12 rods as the answer.

C. Meesenbrink Jr. is in the 4½-rods class.

J. G. F. finds the distance 4.12 plus and suggests this problem: Six coins are thrown in the air; what is the probability of three falling heads up and three falling tails up?

Raymond Schnebly, 4320A Cote Brilliante avenue, says 4¼ rods is right.

Rose V. Klein, 1901 Cass avenue, gives 3 rods as the answer.

BROWNS BEAT CLEVELAND IN 14TH INNING

Stone Drives in Winning Run and Then Hoffman Follows With a Double.

By JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

LEAGUE PARK, CLEVELAND, O., May 30.—In the toughest game of baseball the St. Louis Browns have had this season they succeeded in licking the Clevelands this morning after 14 innings. The battle between the two clubs was fought in desperate fashion from the first inning until the fourteenth, when the Browns rallied and hammered in two runs.

Cleveland scored one in the first and one in the third, and then the Browns whipped three home in the sixth. One for Cleveland in the seventh tied up the count and it remained a tie until the fourteenth.

Barney Pelty worked the entire game for St. Louis, and was excellent. He seemed just as strong in the fourteenth as in the first. Altogether, the heavy batting Cleveland team bagged but seven hits. On the other hand, Cleveland used two pitchers, and both were pounded.

Thielman was batted out of the box in the sixth inning, and Liebhardt took his place. The young "iron man" did excellent service, but the Browns finally solved his speed in the fourteenth and rushed over a victory.

HARVARD CREW BEATS CORNELL

Boats Race in Rain Over Choppy Course on Charles River.

BOSTON, May 30.—Arrangements for the eight-oar boat race between Harvard and Cornell on the Charles River today were nearly completed when the crews went out on the river during the forenoon for a short limbering up spin.

Cornell had had some of her strong men taken out of the boat on account of sickness, but the Harvard men recognized that Cornell crews always pulled remarkably plucky races in spite of every handicap. As today's race was a trifle under a mile and seven-eighths, the contest was expected to bring out the sprinting abilities, rather than a test of stamina.

Harvard won the race.

The boats got away at 2:05, starting about even. It was raining hard and the water was choppy.

Harvard won by 14 lengths. Time: Harvard, 10m. 47s.; Cornell, 11m. 24s.

MANUAL T. S. TEAM WINS FROM CENTRAL

A home run by Wills of the Manual Training School team, with two men on bases, was the feature of the game between the Central High School and Manual baseball teams at the Stadium this morning. The final score was 10 to 2 in favor of the Manual. Rowan pitched for Central and was found easy by the opposing batters all through the game, the result never being in doubt after the first inning.

In that round the Central boys got one run, but were unable to solve the curves of Haille to any effect until the ninth inning, when they succeeded in pushing another man around the circuit. In the meantime Manual had gathered three runs in the first inning, four in the second.

KANSAS CITY 5, SAINTS 2.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 30.—Ten hits and a couple of costly errors on the part of St. Paul gave the first game to Kansas City today. Brandon proved to be tight in pinches, only four hits being secured off his delivery. Score:

Carter Throws McCarthy.

Lloyd Carter and Tim McCarthy were returned winners in the wrestling bouts at the Standard Theater last night. Carter threw Will Schneider in 7:30 and again in 1:05; Billy Kaster pinned McCarthy's shoulders to the mat after 12 minutes' wrestling in the first round of their bout, but declined to continue, as he had strained a tendon on his arm.

AUTOS SET NEW RECORDS IN RAIN

Hundreds of Spectators Watch Machines Contest in Hill Climbing Events.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., May 30.—In a downpour of rain over the mile course made as hard and smooth as stone by the water, the hill-climbing contest of the automobile club of Bridgeport was run today.

Hundreds of enthusiasts lined the steep, short hill, which in one place reaches a 60 per cent grade, cheered the effort to equal last year's record of 1m. 24 1-5s., made by Tracey in a Locomobile. The winners in the various classes of events follow:

Class No. 1—Gasoline cars, $850 and under, Maxwell, 12-horsepower, driven by W. Pollard. Time, 2m. 5 2-5s.

No. 3, gasoline cars, $1251 to $3000—Jackson, 30-horsepower, R. Burnham. Time, 1m. 39 4-5s.

No. 4, gasoline touring cars, $2000 to $3000—Tiley, 32-horsepower, C. E. Tiley. Time, 1m. 54 2-5s.

No. 8, for amateur drivers, Crauferd cup—Won by Stearns 46-horsepower, driven by Kenneth McNeil. Time, 1m. 20 3-5s. Second, Stearns, 30-60-horsepower, J. Doig; time, 2m. 23s. Third, Stearns, 44-horsepower, Swan; time, 2m. 23 1-5s.

No. 9, last event, Board of Trade cup, free-for-all—Won by Isotta, 52-horsepower, R. Poole; time, 1m. 17s. Second, Columbia, 29-horsepower, Arthur Bell; 1m. 19 4-5s. Third, Simplex, 50-horsepower, N. W. Bishop, 1m. 20 3-5s.

In the last event Poole fairly outdid himself, beating his record for the course hung up in the seventh event, going over the course in the incredibly fast time of 1m. and 17s.

In all three last events better time was made, the record for last year being broken by many seconds many times.

There were no accidents.

SMITH NINE TO TIE FOR TITLE

Academy Players Defeat McKinley and Should Win Remaining League Contests.

By defeating the McKinley High School baseball team at Kulage Park yesterday afternoon, 4 to 2, the Smith Academy team, if it wins its games with Manual Training School and the Western M. A. of Alton, Ill., may tie the McKinley boys for the championship. It is said that if McKinley does tie, there will be no play-off game, as the McKinley team will be broken up, yesterday's contest being the final of the season for the South Side boys.

Starting out yesterday there seemed nothing to the game but McKinley. The academy boys were nervous and Mat Morse, who was pitching for Smith, did not seem to have anything that troubled the McKinley batters. In the first inning McKinley got two runs across the plate. Their scoring for the game ended there, however, as Morse steadied down, displayed a good change of pace that had the McKinley boys guessing and also kept the ball up high, which resulted in numerous pop flies to the infield.

In the second inning Brewster scored for Smith on a triple and a wild throw to third. Brewster had been easy for Jones, McKinley's pitcher, who happened to lay a straight one right over the plate. It was the first ball pitched to the first man up in the third and Brewster sent the leather out to the fence. He did not get a hit afterwards. Jones pitched a good game, but in the seventh inning was relieved by Fuchs, who did good work the two innings he was in the box. Errors coupled with an odd hit or two had allowed Smith to get three more runs, which won the game for the wearers of the Crimson and White. McKinley High has completed its interscholastic schedule with a record of four games won and one lost.

UNCLE, COLIN'S BEST RIVAL, IS ON THE HOSPITAL LIST

NEW YORK, May 30.—Uncle, the chestnut colt that gave Colin his hardest battle last season, is on the shelf for repairs. He has never fully recovered from the sensational trial he made previous to the Metropolitan handicap. Like Colin he was the victim of excessive zeal in his desire to beat all records, and his exercise boy was unable to hold him. The workout, coming as it did, shortly after his recovery from an injury to his hoof, proved too much for him and he is now a very sick horse. He will probably remain in retirement until the middle of the summer racing season.

CUBS TROUNCE CARDINALS IN THE FIRST, 10-2

Locals Get Away Wrong on Close Chances While Champions Live Up to Name.

Fromme and Ludwig played in hard luck in the Cardinals' morning game, and thereby hangs much of the story of the Cubs running the score up to 10 while the Cardinals could get but 2 runs. Ludwig was never very far from the mark in his throwing, but just far enough to lose close chances.

In the second inning Ludwig apparently had Steinfeldt forced on Howard's bunt, but the low throw drew O'Rourke from the base and the latter's fumble permitted both of the runners to advance a base. Then Gilbert drew Ludwig up in the air for a high assist of Kling's smart grounder to catch Steinfeldt at the plate, and Ludwig could not get to the ground quick enough to tag Steinfeldt, whose life was twice spared. Later in the inning Schulte stole second on a throw that would ordinarily have caught him.

Again, in the fourth inning, after Murray had misjudged Schulte's high fly that was between him and the sun, Fromme stopped a bluff throw to second and caught Zimmerman off third, but Ludwig dropped Byrne's throw, where there was no other chance for life.

In the eighth, Fromme, who had been fielding in hard luck, knocked down Brown's slow liner with his gloved hand and so delayed the course of the ball that Gilbert could not handle it in time to catch the runner, and three runs were counted up before the batting bee that followed was ended.

The Cubs showed some of the playing that makes them such formidable opponents. Twice did Tinker get in behind Steinfeldt and cut off ground balls that seemed sure singles, and their plays to catch the most advanced men on bases always brought results. Where the Cardinals lost three chances for double plays that looked certain, the Cubs scored as many that appeared improbable.

Their base stealing was the result of good calculation and speed. Once Kling surprised everyone by going to second, after Ludwig had a near-wild pitch safe in his hands. Ludwig's throw was fairly good, but Kling beat it out.

CORN AND OATS CORNER GIVES NORTHWESTERN GYM. $150,000

Students March All Night Cheering "Jim" Patten, Who Gave Part of Profits.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, May 30.—The Northwestern University at Evanston is just $150,000 ahead of the game today because "Jim" Patten successfully squeezed $1,250,000 out of the "shorts" in May corn and oats. Patten's deals were all closed yesterday. Patten would have been a half million more winner, it is said, if he had not tried to push over an oats corner as well as one in May corn.

The money was given by Mr. Patten for the building of a gymnasium, according to the announcement of President Harrison of the institution. Mr. Patten was present and blushed becomingly when led before the band of students, who cheered him to the echo. He greatly enjoyed the ovation given him.

Until nearly daylight today 300 students marched about the university and through the town of Evanston wrapped in sheets and nightgowns.

After being encouraged in a little quiet celebration by President Harris, they marched to the residence of Mr. Patten, where they aroused the family. They were invited to come in, but Mr. Patten declined to make any speeches.

BROWNS BEAT CLEVELAND IN 14TH INNING

Stone Drives in Winning Run and Then Hoffman Follows With a Double.

By JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

LEAGUE PARK, CLEVELAND, O., May 30.—In the toughest game of baseball the St. Louis Browns have had this season they succeeded in licking the Clevelands this morning after 14 innings. The battle between the two clubs was fought in desperate fashion from the first inning until the fourteenth, when the Browns rallied and hammered in two runs.

Cleveland scored one in the first and one in the third, and then the Browns whipped three home in the sixth. One for Cleveland in the seventh tied up the count and it remained a tie until the fourteenth.

Barney Pelty worked the entire game for St. Louis, and was excellent. He seemed just as strong in the fourteenth as in the first. Altogether, the heavy batting Cleveland team bagged but seven hits. On the other hand, Cleveland used two pitchers, and both were pounded.

Thielman was batted out of the box in the sixth inning, and Liebhardt took his place. The young "iron man" did excellent service, but the Browns finally solved his speed in the fourteenth and rushed over a victory.

HARVARD CREW BEATS CORNELL

Boats Race in Rain Over Choppy Course on Charles River.

BOSTON, May 30.—Arrangements for the eight-oar boat race between Harvard and Cornell on the Charles River today were nearly completed when the crews went out on the river during the forenoon for a short limbering up spin.

Cornell had had some of her strong men taken out of the boat on account of sickness, but the Harvard men recognized that Cornell crews always pulled remarkably plucky races in spite of every handicap. As today's race was a trifle under a mile and seven-eighths, the contest was expected to bring out the sprinting abilities, rather than a test of stamina.

Harvard won the race.

The boats got away at 2:05, starting about even. It was raining hard and the water was choppy.

Harvard won by 14 lengths. Time: Harvard, 10m. 47s.; Cornell, 11m. 24s.

MANUAL T. S. TEAM WINS FROM CENTRAL

A home run by Wills of the Manual Training School team, with two men on bases, was the feature of the game between the Central High School and Manual baseball teams at the Stadium this morning. The final score was 10 to 2 in favor of the Manual. Rowan pitched for Central and was found easy by the opposing batters all through the game, the result never being in doubt after the first inning.

In that round the Central boys got one run, but were unable to solve the curves of Haille to any effect until the ninth inning, when they succeeded in pushing another man around the circuit. In the meantime Manual had gathered three runs in the first inning, four in the second.

KANSAS CITY 5, SAINTS 2.

AUTOS SET NEW RECORDS IN RAIN

Hundreds of Spectators Watch Machines Contest in Hill Climbing Events.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., May 30.—In a downpour of rain over the mile course made as hard and smooth as stone by the water, the hill-climbing contest of the automobile club of Bridgeport was run today.

Hundreds of enthusiasts lined the steep, short hill, which in one place reaches a 60 per cent grade, cheered the effort to equal last year's record of 1m. 24 1-5s., made by Tracey in a Locomobile. The winners in the various classes of events follow:

Class No. 1—Gasoline cars, $850 and under, Maxwell, 12-horsepower, driven by W. Pollard. Time, 2m. 5 2-5s.

No. 2, gasoline cars, $851 to $1250—Overland, 22-horsepower, T. C. P. Forbes. Time, 1m. 43 1-5s.

No. 3, gasoline cars, $1251 to $3000—Jackson, 30-horsepower, R. Burnham. Time, 1m. 39 4-5s.

No. 8, for amateur drivers, Crauferd cup—Won by Stearns 46-horsepower, driven by Kenneth McNeil. Time, 1m. 20 3-5s. Second, Stearns, 30-60-horsepower, J. Doig; time, 2m. 23s. Third, Stearns, 44-horsepower, Swan; time, 2m. 23 1-5s.

No. 9, last event, Board of Trade cup, free-for-all—Won by Isotta, 52-horsepower, R. Poole; time, 1m. 17s. Second, Columbia, 29-horsepower, Arthur Bell; 1m. 19 4-5s. Third, Simplex, 50-horsepower, N. W. Bishop, 1m. 20 3-5s.

In the last event Poole fairly outdid himself, beating his record for the course hung up in the seventh event, going over the course in the incredibly fast time of 1m. and 17s.

In all three last events better time was made, the record for last year being broken by many seconds many times.

There were no accidents.

SMITH NINE TO TIE FOR TITLE

Academy Players Defeat McKinley and Should Win Remaining League Contests.

By defeating the McKinley High School baseball team at Kulage Park yesterday afternoon, 4 to 2, the Smith Academy team, if it wins its games with Manual Training School and the Western M. A. of Alton, Ill., may tie the McKinley boys for the championship. It is said that if McKinley does tie, there will be no play-off game, as the McKinley team will be broken up, yesterday's contest being the final of the season for the South Side boys.

Starting out yesterday there seemed nothing to the game but McKinley. The academy boys were nervous and Mat Morse, who was pitching for Smith, did not seem to have anything that troubled the McKinley batters. In the first inning McKinley got two runs across the plate. Their scoring for the game ended there, however, as Morse steadied down, displayed a good change of pace that had the McKinley boys guessing and also kept the ball up high, which resulted in numerous pop flies to the infield.

In the second inning Brewster scored for Smith on a triple and a wild throw to third. Brewster had been easy for Jones, McKinley's pitcher, who happened to lay a straight one right over the plate. It was the first ball pitched to the first man up in the third and Brewster sent the leather out to the fence. He did not get a hit afterwards. Jones pitched a good game, but in the seventh inning was relieved by Fuchs, who did good work the two innings he was in the box. Errors coupled with an odd hit or two had allowed Smith to get three more runs, which won the game for the wearers of the Crimson and White. McKinley High has completed its interscholastic schedule with a record of four games won and one lost.

UNCLE, COLIN'S BEST RIVAL, IS ON THE HOSPITAL LIST

NEW YORK, May 30.—Uncle, the chestnut colt that gave Colin his hardest battle last season, is on the shelf for repairs. He has never fully recovered from the sensational trial he made previous to the Metropolitan handicap. Like Colin he was the victim of excessive zeal in his desire to beat all records, and his exercise boy was unable to hold him. The workout, coming as it did, shortly after his recovery from an injury to his hoof, proved too much for him and he is now a very sick horse. He will probably remain in retirement until the middle of the summer racing season.

CUBS TROUNCE CARDINALS IN THE FIRST, 10-2

Locals Get Away Wrong on Close Chances While Champions Live Up to Name.

Fromme and Ludwig played in hard luck in the Cardinals' morning game, and thereby hangs much of the story of the Cubs running the score up to 10 while the Cardinals could get but 2 runs. Ludwig was never very far from the mark in his throwing, but just far enough to lose close chances.

In the second inning Ludwig apparently had Steinfeldt forced on Howard's bunt, but the low throw drew O'Rourke from the base and the latter's fumble permitted both of the runners to advance a base. Then Gilbert drew Ludwig up in the air for a high assist of Kling's smart grounder to catch Steinfeldt at the plate, and Ludwig could not get to the ground quick enough to tag Steinfeldt, whose life was twice spared. Later in the inning Schulte stole second on a throw that would ordinarily have caught him.

Again, in the fourth inning, after Murray had misjudged Schulte's high fly that was between him and the sun, Fromme stopped a bluff throw to second and caught Zimmerman off third, but Ludwig dropped Byrne's throw, where there was no other chance for life.

In the eighth, Fromme, who had been fielding in hard luck, knocked down Brown's slow liner with his gloved hand and so delayed the course of the ball that Gilbert could not handle it in time to catch the runner, and three runs were counted up before the batting bee that followed was ended.

The Cubs showed some of the playing that makes them such formidable opponents. Twice did Tinker get in behind Steinfeldt and cut off ground balls that seemed sure singles, and their plays to catch the most advanced men on bases always brought results. Where the Cardinals lost three chances for double plays that looked certain, the Cubs scored as many that appeared improbable.

Their base stealing was the result of good calculation and speed. Once Kling surprised everyone by going to second, after Ludwig had a near-wild pitch safe in his hands. Ludwig's throw was fairly good, but Kling beat it out.

FIRST INNING.

CUBS—Zimmerman fouled high to Ludwig, who dropped it, but Murray made a one-handed catch of his liner. Sheckard fouled to Ludwig. Schulte hit to left for a single. Chance grounded to Koney. NO RUNS.

CARDINALS—Barry fouled to Steinfeldt. Byrne struck out. Murray was hit by ball and took first. Murray stole second. Delehanty walked. Koney was called out on strikes. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING.

CUBS—Steinfeldt doubled to right center. Howard bunted, Ludwig picked it up and threw to O'Rourke, who fumbled the low throw, allowing Steinfeldt to reach third and Howard second. Kling hit to Gilbert, who made a high throw home. Steinfeldt scored and Howard stayed on second. Tinker hit for a double to right center, scoring Howard. Fromme went in to pitch for St. Louis. Overall singled to center, scoring Kling and Tinker. Zimmerman sacrificed to Koney. Scheckard flied to Murray. Schu'te singled to right center, scoring Overall. Schulte stole second. Chance fouled to Ludwig. FIVE RUNS.

CARDINALS—Ludwig singled to left. O'Rourke flied to Howard. Gilbert lined to Tinker, who caught Ludwig off first, Tinker to Chance. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING.

CUBS—Steinfeldt walked. Howard attempted to sacrifice, forcing Steinfeldt, Fromme to O'Rourke. Kling lined to Delehanty. Tinker flied to Byrne. NO RUNS.

CARDINALS—Fromme fanned. Barry out, Overall to Chance. His smash went through Overall's hands, and after the assist the Cubs spent several minutes massaging Overall, but after a trial at warming up he retired, Reulbach going to the box. Byrne walked. Murray singled to left, Byrne going to third and Murray going to second in the throw-in. Delehanty walked, filling the bases. Brown then replaced Reulbach. Koney singled to right, Byrne and Murray scoring. Ludwig struck out. TWO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING.

CUBS—Brown flied to Murray. Zimmerman singled to center. Sheckard flied to Gilbert. Murray misjudged Schulte's fly, Zimmerman going to third. Fromme threw to third and caught Zimmerman off the base, but Ludwig dropped Byrne's throw and Zimmerman scored, Schulte going to third. Chance out, Koney to Fromme, who covered first. ONE RUN.

CARDINALS—O'Rourke out, Tinker to Chance. Gilbert did likewise. Same fate for Fromme. NO RUNS.

FIFTH INNING.

CUBS—Steinfeldt struck out. Howard out, to Koney, by an excellent stop. Kling singled to center. Tinker lined to O'Rourke. NO RUNS.

CARDINALS—Barry out, Brown to Chance. Byrne out, Steinfeldt to Chance. Murray singled to left and stole second on Kling's low throw. Delehanty flied to Sheckard. NO RUNS.

SIXTH INNING.

CORN AND OATS CORNER GIVES NORTHWESTERN GYM. $150,000

Students March All Night Cheering "Jim" Patten, Who Gave Part of Profits.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, May 30.—The Northwestern University at Evanston is just $150,000 ahead of the game today because "Jim" Patten successfully squeezed $1,250,000 out of the "shorts" in May corn and oats. Patten's deals were all closed yesterday. Patten would have been a half million more winner, it is said, if he had not tried to push over an oats corner as well as one in May corn.

The money was given by Mr. Patten for the building of a gymnasium, according to the announcement of President Harrison of the institution. Mr. Patten was present and blushed becomingly when led before the band of students, who cheered him to the echo. He greatly enjoyed the ovation given him.

Until nearly daylight today 300 students marched about the university and through the town of Evanston wrapped in sheets and nightgowns.

After being encouraged in a little quiet celebration by President Harris, they marched to the residence of Mr. Patten, where they aroused the family. They were invited to come in, but Mr. Patten declined to make any speeches.

BUSINESS MEN SUPPORT HOUSE UTILITIES BILL

Council Urged by Affiliated Organizations to Pass Delegates' Measure.

The Legislative Committee of the Affiliated Business Men's Associations has indorsed the public utilities bill passed by the House of Delegates, and will urge the City Council to pass it. The committee met at the Southern Hotel Friday night.

The committee, having found from practical experience that it is a very difficult matter to advance proper legislation, decided to go into the legislative business by requiring members of the business organizations to become candidates for legislative offices.

The first step in that direction resulted in the announcement of Ben Westhus as a candidate for the Legislature. Other members of the business organizations associated with the affiliated body will run for legislative offices.

Commends Post-Dispatch.

The meeting was called by Leo A. Landau, chairman. The unanimous sentiment of the members of the committee was that the Post-Dispatch should be commended in its campaign for official investigation of the rates of the Union Electric Light and Power Co.

An effort was made to induce Mr. Landau to make the race for Congress in the Twelfth District, but he declined on account of pressure of business duties. It is probable that the committee will endeavor to get Mr. Landau to become a candidate for member of the Municipal Assembly, or some other legislative office.

He has been mentioned for Mayor, but is not old enough for that office.

The committee expressed itself as heartily in favor of the creation of a public service commission, to recommend a new scale of charges for public utilities.

ALTON HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS DOFF "RATS" AND ASSEMBLE WEARING MARGUERITE BRAIDS

Principal, Instead of Objecting, Commends the Feminine Freak in Hair Dressing.

When 25 Alton High School girls left their rats at home and started for school with their hair in long Marguerite braids, they expected soon to be back home. Principal Richardson, they thought, would send them away from school.

But Prof. Richardson is not in the martyr-making business, and instead of the expected frowns and right-about-face commands, the girls heard something like this:

"Well, young ladies, I very glad to see that you have put artificiality aside today, and have gone back to the simple and easy way of hair dressing. I hope that, with your foreheads relieved of some of the weight they have carried, we shall have exceptionally good recitations today."

"Oh, grape fruit!" exclaimed Miss Nina Gasgins, as she tossed her blonde braids and looked across the aisle at dark-haired Miss Salina Webb. The two girls had planned and organized the demonstration.

At recess Friday the boys took the chance to ridicule the braid wearers for their failure to give offense.

"Wait for us," said Kendall Hopkins and Wilbur Black, who led the boys a few days ago in going to school bareheaded, as a protest against the girls' Merry Widow brims.

It was reported about the school grounds later that the boys would appear Monday in knee pants. The girls predict that Principal Richardson will have primers and possibly a few dunce caps ready in case the boys appear thus garbed.

New Theater Will Cost $200,000.

Frank J. Talbot, manager of the Garrick Theater, says that a company has been organized to build another downtown theater to cost $200,000. An option has been taken on the southwest corner of Broadway and Market street, but the site has not been finally determined.

Girl Saved From Suicide on Street.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Miss Cora Losee, aged 22, tried to drain a bottle of carbolic acid at Chicago avenue and North State street early today. A patrolman knocked the bottle from her hand after she had drunk a small quantity. The girl is out of danger.

Car Jumps Track; One Hurt.

A Cass avenue car, going east, left the track Friday night in front of 4293 St. Louis avenue and did not stop until it ran against a telegraph pole at the curbing. Mrs. A. J. Madden, 3830A Maffitt avenue, was badly shaken up and was sent to her home in an ambulance.

POPE RECEIVES HANDSOME GIFTS JUBILEE YEAR

Buenos Ayres Gives Him a Palace for Apostolic Delegation.

One of the most recent gifts presented to the Pope because of his sacerdotal jubilee year is that of a palace located in one of the most desirable quarters of Buenos Ayres. It was purchased by the Catholics of that city and the country for $300,000. A deed to the property was sent to the Pope, who will utilize it for the benefit of the apostolic delegation in the Argentine Republic, which has rented quarters at a great expense.

Another instance of gifts of this kind received by the Holy See is the residence of the apostolic delegate at Washington. It is believed that this residence was purchased by a Catholic woman and given to the Pope. The Government of the Republic of Colombia, in South America, placed at the disposal of the papal delegate there the mansion which he now occupies at the capital, Santa de Bogota.

The Australian Emperor has expressed a desire to send a token of his faith, and it is understood that his gift will take the form of a magnificent piece of ecclesiastical jewelry. The King of Spain has informed the Papal Nuncio at Madrid that he wishes to make a handsome present to the Pope. The German Emperor, although not a Catholic, will also send a gift to the Pope.

Since the beatification of the venerable Mother Barat, foundress of the Order of the Sacred Heart, the Pope has proceeded to the decreeing of two more beatifications, that of the Passionist nun, the venerable Gabriella Addolorata, and that of Father John Eudes, a famous French apostolic missionary and the founder of the Order of the Eudists. Of course, the Pope's present decrees need confirmation in the shape of a formal beatification ceremony, and this will take place in the Vatican Basilica within a few weeks. There are at least a hundred cases of beatification now pending before the Congregation of Rites, among which are those of Bishop Newman of Philadelphia and Pope Pius IX. The process is so slow and so careful that it will be a long time before all the cases have been disposed of. An encyclical letter is expected to be issued by the Pope to commemorate his jubilee year.

MUSIC

Concerts and Recitals of the Week and Those to Come—News From Studios.

Subscriptions for the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra concerts are a trifle ahead of the same date last year. This encourages Manager Clayton to contemplate a trip East to look over the field for the best available talent, and it should not surprise St. Louisans to find at the concerts the coming season a number of leading vocal and instrumental artists of eminence never before heard in St. Louis.

The management also reports that distant cities whose established reputation for good musical judgment are beginning to seek our orchestra for a series of concerts. The duty of giving them a high-grade program devolves upon this city as a whole, if we are to show the world a creditable ensemble body of artists, therefore it is urgent that Prof. Zach and his assistants should be heartily supported.

When Stephen Foster, one of our few real American composers, wrote his simple but beautiful melodies many years ago, he had no assurance that "Old Kentucky Home," "Nelly Was a Lady" and "Suanee River" would be sung and played by future generations.

Creatore's program Saturday night includes a collection of Stephen Foster's gems, and many of the dear old songs will be played. The spirit of the night's program will be both popular and patriotic, and although not formally announced, the evening will close appropriately with "The Star Spangled Banner."

The management has arranged that the garden will remain open until midnight, and for the accommodation of early comers who desire supper, the cafe will open at 7 o'clock.

The program for Saturday is:

Popular night, Decoration Day:
March—American Navy .... Creatore
Overture—Poet and Peasant .... Von Suppe
Spanish Serenade—La Paloma .... Yradier
Miserere—Il Trovatore .... Verdi
Intermission.
Waltz—Merry Widow .... Lebar
Cornet solo—Serenade .... Schubert
Selection—Hearts and Flowers .... Tobani
Gems of Stephen Foster .... Tobani
Introducing the following numbers: "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," "Old Dog Tray," "Ring de Banjo," "Old Kentucky Home," "Beautiful Dreamer," "Willie, We Have Missed You," "Glendy Burk," "Nelly Was a Lady" and "Old Folks at Home."

BABY BURNED BY ACID; MOTHER UPSETS BOTTLE

Belleville Woman Is Also Seared, but Not Seriously Hurt.

Mrs. Louis Parish of Belleville, 18 years old, and her 4-months-old baby were burned, the child, perhaps, fatally, when she accidentally upset a bottle of carbolic acid.

The acid scorched the child's face and chest and injured its left eye so that sight may be destroyed. It burned Mrs. Parish's arm and breast.

Mrs. Parish was alone in her home, on Bristow street, Friday evening, when the accident occurred. She had the baby on her left arm, and, with her left hand, reached up to a shelf to get some medicine for it. She upset the bottle of acid, and as it overturned, the cork came out. Neighbors who heard Mrs. Parish's screams went to her aid. Her burns are not serious.

HETTY GREEN IS TO JOIN SMART SET IN NEWPORT

Society There Will Welcome Coming of Her Millions in Depressed Season.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 30.—It is said here, on good authority, that Mrs. Hetty Green intends to make Newport her home this summer, and is negotiating for a cottage.

Should she come it will not be her first appearance at Newport, although it will be her first as a householder. She and her daughter, Miss Sylvia Green, have visited Newport twice, both times as the guests of Miss Annie Leary. Their first visit was at the Paul cottage, on Mill street; their second at Miss Leary's new "Park Gate."

Matthew Astor Wilkes, who, according to persistent rumor, is engaged to Miss Green, is a member of both of Newport's clubs.

Seeks Society Place.

Mrs. Green's intention to settle in Newport for the summer seems to indicate that she intends to make a permanent place in society. When she left her $15 flat in Hoboken, N. J., for her present luxurious quarters at the Hotel Plaza, in New York, there was talk of it. Last Saturday, when she gave a dinner party at the Plaza, there was confirmation. Her new move on Newport apparently makes it a certainty.

One report has her negotiating for lease on the Pinard cottage, another says she will occupy Miss Leary's "Park Gate" for most of the season, relinquishing it after a time to its owner.

Society here will welcome Mrs. Green with enthusiasm. The financial depression has forced many former entertainers to figure upon a curtailed outlay this season, and the coming of Mrs. Green, with her many millions, will be hailed as a desirable infusion of new blood.

GOULD WESTERN PACIFIC LINE WILL SAVE HALF A DAY

New York Banker, Head of Bond Syndicate, Has Made 8000-Mile Tour of System.

E. L. Marston, a well-known New York banker, who headed the syndicate which placed the $50,000,000 issue of bonds for the Gould Western Pacific, arrived in St. Louis Saturday from an inspection tour of all the Gould railroads in the West and Southwest.

Mr. Marston told a Post-Dispatch reporter at the Jefferson Hotel that in the course of an 8000-mile journey he paid particular attention to crop conditions.

"The West was never more prosperous," Mr. Marston said. "The farmers will have another big wheat crop, the indications at this time being better than they were a year ago."

Mr. Marston said that work on the Western Pacific is progressing rapidly and would be completed, probably, within a year.

St. Louis business men are interested in the opening up of the Gould Western Pacific line.

It is pointed out that it will provide St. Louis with a direct line to the Pacific Coast, and probably cut down the time of the journey between St. Louis and the Golden Gate from three and a half to three days.

SHEEP—The sheep trade was quiet, as there was nothing on sale but some holdovers, and they were held for the Monday market, as packers were not making any more purchases this week. The week closes with spring lambs selling 50c higher than at the close of last week, while clipped lambs, mutton sheep and bucks are 25c higher. Best spring lambs are quotable at $7@7.50, clipped lambs at $5.25@6, mutton sheep at $4.25@4.75 and bucks at $3.25@3.75.

HORSES AND MULES.

The two elements, supply and demand, necessary to make a market were not very visible today. This was equally true on both sides. All the commission mules changed hands yesterday, while only a few odd head of horses are being carried over. The day's fresh receipts ruled very light.

HOUSE BILL PROVIDES FOR PICNICS IN CITY PARKS

Delegate Gallagher Moves to Take Discretionary Power From Commissioner.

Repeal of the ordinance which stands between children and picnics in Forest Park is provided for in a bill which Delegate James J. Gallagher has introduced in the House of Delegates.

Under the present ordinance the Park Commissioner has discretion in granting or refusing permits for picnics in Carondelet, Forest and O'Fallon parks. It was in the exercise of this discretion that former Park Commissioner Ridgley excluded picnic parties from Forest Park in 1902. This regulation has been effective since.

The recent refusal of Park Commissioner Scanlan to allow a family to have a picnic in Forest Park prompted Delegate Gallagher to frame his bill. If the bill is passed the Park Commissioner cannot pervent the use of Forest, O'Fallon or Carondelet parks as picnic grounds.

BOY SHOOTS HIS FRIEND WITH AN "EMPTY" REVOLVER

Boxing Bout Terminates in Resort to Firearms by Sparrer Who Was Beaten.

Clyde King, 15 years old, was shot by Roy Davis, 17 years old, Friday, at Jerseyville. King was distributing programs for Decoration day services.

He entered the store of William H. Sabo, the stepfather of Davis, on South Jefferson street and left some of the programs. Davis was in charge of the store. The boys, who are friends, engaged in a friendly boxing match. They boxed two rounds and King landed on Davis and ran out the door. Davis got a revolver and said: "Suppose I take a shot at you with this?"

He pulled the trigger and a bullet struck King under the left shoulder blade, penetrating his lung.

Davis assisted him to the office of Dr. Joseph W. Enos.

Davis says he did not think the revolver was loaded. King is in a critical condition at his home on East Carpenter street.

ON MONTHLY PAYMENTS SAME AS CASH.

All the remaining lots in FOREST PARK HOME PLACE addition are now offered at a sacrifice in order to wind up the corporation's holdings; an opportunity for the homeseeker or small speculator to obtain a lot for less than the price of acre property; the only safe way to speculate is in city real estate, at prices that cannot go lower and when so located that the natural growth of the city will force increased values; the central west, especially around Forest Park, has never failed in the past, and the future offers much better opportunity, as the city approaches the million mark in population; in a few years only the very rich can afford to purchase a lot in the Forest Park district; the title to this property is the best in St. Louis; property has changed ownership only once in 50 years; the owners have enough faith in the property to offer it on time payments, the same as for cash; only $25 cash, balance $5 per month, will give the purchaser his deed at once; sewer and water all in and paid for; good schools, fire and police protection; best all-round street car line in the city; only two blocks from the most picturesque part of Forest Park; every lot restricted for residence purposes and every street a private street; no danger of assessment for streets by the city. Take Market street cars to McCausland av. (the southwest corner of Forest Park), walk two blocks south on Forest av. and ask for Mr. Koch, resident agent; on ground daily from 3 to 6 p. m.; or send for plat with full particulars.

RYAN SECRETLY GAVE $20,000 TO BRYAN CAMPAIGN

Money Was Contributed to Elect Nebraskan to Senate in 1904.

ACCEPTED BY RELATIVE

Bryan's Brother-in-Law Took Money Paid Through W. F. Sheehan.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 30.—After the Democratic National Convention of 1904 had nominated Judge Parker for the presidency, William J. Bryan returned to his home in Nebraska and began a quiet campaign to secure for himself a seat in the United States Senate.

The State Legislature to be elected in November, 1904, would have the choosing of a senator to succeed C. H. Dietrick, Republican. It was the hope of Bryan and his friends that by an aggressive campaign Nebraska could be carried for the Democracy and that a Democratic Legislature would elect him to the Senate.

At the St. Louis convention Bryan had assailed fiercely Judge Parker as a candidate of plutocratic interests, and had attacked by name August Belmont and other New Yorkers who were backing the Parker campaign. After a week of reflection Bryan announced in a formal statement that he would support the ticket, but with the following proviso:

Radical at Outset.

"As soon as the election is over, I shall, with the help of those who believe as I do, undertake to organize for the campaign of 1908, the object being to marshal the friends of popular government within the Democratic party to the support of a radical and progressive policy to make the Democratic party an efficient instrument for securing relief from the plutocratic element that controls the Republican party, and, for the time being, is in control of the Democratic party."

Within two months after this declaration there was accepted for Bryan's political interests the sum of $20,000 contributed by the prince of plutocrats, Thomas F. Ryan.

T. S. Allen is a brother-in-law of William J. Bryan. He married a sister of the Nebraska candidate. Allen was chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Nebraska in 1904 and he still holds that office. He is the confidante and recognized political agent of Bryan.

Worked Through Sheehan.

Early in the fall of 1904 Allen came to New York to consult the national campaign managers and to solicit funds to promote the Nebraska campaign, which had for its principal object the election of Bryan to the United States Senate. Allen had a conference with Sheehan and Nicoll. He did not see Ryan, but the lawyers reported to their financial backers, Ryan and Belmont, the progress of negotiations.

As a result Ryan agreed to contribute $20,000 personally to help along the Nebraska campaign. In order to disguise the source of his contribution, Ryan gave his check to Sheehan, who in return gave checks to Allen.

The New York men believed they were negotiating with the authorized agent of William J. Bryan. Furthermore, they gained a distinct impression that they were to receive something in return for Ryan's money. That something, so they understood, was to be Bryan's open and unqualified support of Judge Parker in the national campaign, and further, that he would let up on his attacks on the Lnanciers who were backing the campaign.

Silent on Plutocrats.

Allen accepted the $20,000 given by Ryan, and went back to Nebraska to spend it in attempts to carry the State for Bryan.

It is on record that Bryan did come out in favor of Judge Parker, indorsed his candidacy and made speeches urging radical Democrats to vote for the party's nominee. It also is noticeable that, in his campaign speeches that year, Bryan did not continue his assaults on Belmont and the other financiers who were conducting the national campaign.

Ryan thought for a time that he was getting his money's worth. The election dashed all plans. Not only was Parker defeated, but Nebraska did not elect a Democratic Legislature, and Bryan was not chosen to the United States Senate. Nebraska, despite Ryan's $20,000, gave a plurality for Roosevelt, and E. J. Burkett was sent to the Senate as a Republican.

CHARACTER STUDY OF MAYOR WELLS DISCUSSING PARK PICNICS

MAYOR WELLS FAVORS RULE AGAINST PICNICS IN PARK

Deluges Marguerite Martyn With Reasons Why Large Gatherings in City's Breathing Places Are Not Desirable.

BY MARGUERITE MARTYN.

Are you of that majority who have been objecting so loudly to that rule which excludes large crowds of merry-makers from Forest Park? Be convinced that you have been selfish and unreasoning.

When recently the Federation of Women's Clubs planned a picnic for all the children of St. Louis, and were denied the use of our biggest park, the law was forcibly brought to notice, and I took the objections which have been pouring in from the public to Mayor Wells, laying them before him in this wise:

"You have appointed our Park Commissioner, but do you intend to uphold him in enforcing this prehistoric rule, that no large picnics be permitted in our fine, big park?" only to be convinced by a satin-smooth flow of argument that in holding the belief that our big, beautiful park belongs to all the people all the time, and at any time. I had been inconsiderate of the minority, who have not voiced their complaint.

The Mayor's View.

"With all due respect to newspapers and newspaper reporters, there are two sides to every public question," replied the Mayor. "The man in public life is hedged about by many restrictions.

"The people who have been complaining are those who have had only the newspaper versions of this subject. It is not now my place to explain every phase of it. I had nothing to do with making this rule. I was relieved of that duty when I made the appointment which our present Park Commissioner has shown to be a good one. But officially I shall stand by him in this matter, because as a layman I see that it is not merely an old-fashioned rule, but one which has been governed by the experience of park commissioners through several administrations. They, as experts, should know more than the people about this business of protecting, improving and managing the property of which they are in charge.

"If Forest Park is for all the people then an immense crowd going out there for a picnic would monopolize it to such an extent that the other visitors would be inconvenienced and the park would not be accessible to everybody.

"The litter is not the point at issue at all. Cream and eatables strewn over the grass are injurious, of course, but that could be attended to. But with a big crowd are certain to come other objectionable features. Some people don't like beer bottles—and they can't all be Sunday school picnics. There are certain to be crowds gotten together for mercenary purposes—and there would be the difficulty of maintaining order.

"But there is a law against selling things in the park which could be enforced," I reminded him.

Draws Line Against Crowds.

"Yes, there is that law and it must be enforced, and while it is a pity to rule against school picnics, there must be a limit to which certain people can go in the use and misuses of property which belongs to all, and the park commissioners have seen fit to draw the line against big crowds."

"And why is this restriction confined to Forest Park?" I asked.

"I do not know, except that Forest Park is the park greatest in demand by the general public. There are people out there every day for various purposes. Every one's rights and interests must be respected."

Assuredly the Mayor is far-sighted. The certain cure for difficulties is the dose of prevention and precaution. We have had two sides of the subject generously set forth. But suppose the good, old park herself had a voice in the matter. She gave up 1740 acres to the World's Fair. St. Louis day she managed 358,403 people within those confines.

There still remained 131 acres of silent forests, bosky dells, long, deep, wide drives and automobile speedways. Is it not possible that in her generous heart she would provide ample room for the selfish and the unselfish.

PETITIONS OF OFFICE SEEKERS DUE JUNE 3

Candidates Who Neglect to Send in Lists Will Be Barred.

SOME ARE IN ALREADY

Aspirants for Membership in the Legislature Scarce in Both Parties.

All candidates of all parties for all State and city offices in Missouri are required to file nominating petitions on or before June 3. The general primary election will be held Aug. 4.

In the case of candidates for St. Louis offices, including those for Circuit Judge, Legislative Representative, Sheriff and Circuit Attorney, the petition must be filed with the Board of Election Commissioners.

For the offices of Governor, Secretary of State, Attorney-General, Auditor and Treasurer, the petitions are sent to the Secretary of State's office at Jefferson City.

The Election Board announced Saturday that the name of no candidate will appear on the official ballot whose nominating petitions have not been presented by next Tuesday night.

Hickman P. Rodgers First In.

Hickman P. Rodgers, Judge of the Court of General Sessions up to the time that tribunal was declared illegal by the Supreme Court, was one of the first of the candidates for Circuit Judge to present a list of petitioners. His papers contain 2500 signatures and indicate indorsements from every one of the 413 precincts.

Judge Rodgers has also been indorsed by the St. Louis Bar Association and 200 lawyers not connected with that organization.

Ben F. Clarke, a well-known Four Courts attorney, entered the field of Democratic candidates for Circuit Attorney Saturday.

The other aspirants are: Campbell Cummings, Carl Otto and W. C. Connett.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Richard M. Johnson has decided to enter the contest for the Republican nomination for Public Administrator.

Candidates for Legislature Scarce.

In both the Republican and Democratic parties the candidates for the Legislature are few and far between.

It is conceded that State Senator Tom Kinney of the Third Legislative District will have a walkover for renomination and re-election.

The Senator's brother, Michael Kinney, constable in Judge Spalding's court, has been urged to seek the Democratic nomination for Sheriff. He has the backing of many influential Democratic leaders.

SOUTHERN WOMEN DO NOT TRY TO RULE HUSBANDS, IS HER PROMISE TO BACHELOR

Another Woman Wants to Marry Belleville Man Who Tried to Die St. Patrick's Day.

Southern women do not rule their husbands, according to a letter received by Ewald Siebert, Belleville's prize bachelor. Since Siebert wanted to commit suicide for celebrating St. Patrick's Day in Belleville, he has been the recipient of hundreds of letters from women who are willing to marry him. Siebert is said to be worth $80,000.

The latest letter received by Siebert is signed Mrs. Maggie E. Brett, Nashville, Ark. This proposer starts squarely into the business end of the transaction, by putting up a proposition of marriage in the first sentence. She says: "This is leap year, so I will ask you to marry me. Don't you refuse because this is the first time I ever asked anyone to marry me."

Continuing, she says: "Do you drink? If so, I will not be contrary, because a man is to be pitied who drinks, and I think I could manage you by kindness. When I get married I will love the one I get married to, dear friend. I am not looking for a rich man at all. I don't expect a man to give me money.

"I think I would like your home. Are you keeping house? You just need Maggie to keep house for you. Don't you think you could love Maggie? I won't try to hold you at home all the time. You shall have your way. Southern ladies don't rule their husbands. What the men say goes. Now, dearest one, will you be so kind as to send me one of your photos?"

Siebert said he might send one of his pictures if he got one from the woman, but, as she inclosed no description of herself, he thought he should demand plans and specifications before committing himself.

CONSCIENCE DRIVES MAN WHO STOLE $1030 TO CONFESS

"It Came Easy and It Went Easy," Explains Fugitive Who Surrendered.

A man giving his name as John M. Wathem and claiming to have stopped at 1714 North Leffingwell avenue, surrendered to Night Chief Gillaspy Friday night and said he was wanted for stealing $1030 from the Garden & Fort Scott Railroad Co.

"I've been dodging you fellows long enough," he said to Clerk William Watts, "and I guess it's about time I'm being locked up. My conscience doesn't feel right."

"Where is the money you stole?" asked Watts.

"It came easy and it went easy," replied Wathem.

Wathem said he stole the money Jan. 27, while employed as a telegraph operator by the railroad company at Womble, Ark.

There is no record of the alleged theft at police headquarters. Wathem is being held at Central District.

INSANITY REFUGE PROVIDED BY NEW YORK STATUTES

Persons Who Fear Lapse of Mentality Will Be Watched Free of Charge.

PROTECTED BY LAW

Novel Institution Cannot Give Up Patients Except Under Orders.

NEW YORK, May 30.—Through an act passed by the Legislature at its recent regular session, persons who believe themselves threatened with insanity are about to be provided with a refuge to which they can retire voluntarily for observation by skilled alienists without incurring the stigma which attaches to an insane person.

There is now approaching completion on the grounds of the Hudson River State Hospital for the Insane at Poughkeepsie a building in which the man or woman who, through nervous breakdown or other causes, fears the approach of madness, may place himself or herself under the care of eminent specialists without formality or fear of publicity.

Under a Careful Watch.

A simple statement by the applicant, that there is a fear of a lesion somewhere in the mental fabric, will be the only requirement for admission. Once in the hospital the patient will be watched constantly and carefully, and the most approved treatment for the symptoms will be applied.

Should it prove the applicant's fears are unfounded, he will be discharged without any more formality than attended his entrance.

Must Be Committed Legally.

On the other hand, should the case develop into one of genuine insanity, the patient cannot be transferred to an asylum except by such methods of legal commitment as are referred in the case of any insane person.

Any patient will be permitted to leave the asylum at any time he desires, and the treatment he receives will cost him nothing, the State footing his bills.
